Nixon's $268.7 Billion Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon demanded death for dozens of federal spending programs today, called on Congress for a rigid 1974 budget ceiling of $268.7 billion, and cautioned that greater spending would mean "high taxes, higher interest rates, renewed inflation, or all three."

"I oppose these alternatives; with a firm rein on spending, none of them is necessary," Nixon said in his fiscal 1974 budget message.

The document lived up to advance billing as an ax job on many social, health, housing, education, and antipoverty programs of his Democratic predecessors—programs Nixon said had failed after a fair trial.

Despite the domestic cutbacks, the budget called for $81.1 billion of military outlays, the biggest defense budget in history even with the peace agreement in Vietnam. It provided no funds for reconstruction of South Vietnam.

Nixon called his budget a turning point in national policy though still written in the familiar red ink—a $24.8-billion deficit this year and a $12.7-billion deficit in fiscal 1974.

But the President pointed to 113 program cutbacks and terminations, worth $6.5 billion in savings in this fiscal year alone, and told the lawmakers:

"The 1974 budget is the clear evidence of the kind of change in direction demanded by the great majority of the American people. "No longer will power flow inexorably to Washington."

The figures—some of them leaked in advance by Nixon himself—were:

For fiscal 1973: Outlays $249.8 billion, receipts $225 billion.

For fiscal 1974: Outlays $268.7 billion, receipts $256 billion.

Nixon invited an intensified power struggle with the Democratic-controlled Congress not only on spending but on two other old battle fronts.

He urged the bundling of 70 federal aid programs into four broad "special revenue-sharing programs" for the states and cities, with less federal control. And he repeated his call for a drastic governmental reorganization which Congress has resisted for two years.

With apparent intent to set a cost-cutting example, Nixon announced a shakeup of his executive office under which five of its agencies will be abolished or moved elsewhere and its staff will be cut from the present 4,250 to 1,686 in 1974:

The five are the OEO, the Office of Science and Technology, the Office of Consumer Affairs, the Office of Emergency Preparedness and the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

This was the budget's impact on some major segments of government:

DEFENSE

Nixon said the budget "assures us of sufficient strength to preserve our security and to continue as a major force for peace," even without relying on a peacetime draft.

The $81.1-billion budget will permit continued development of the Trident sea-based ballistic-missile system and the B1 advanced manned strategic bomber, and begin development of a strategic submarine-launched cruise missile.

SPACE

Instead of the expected cuts, the space program won a $74-million increase in funds for 1974, to a total of $3.133 billion. The reusable space shuttle will get $475 million instead of the present $200 million.

Skylab, a three-man experimental space station, also is being pushed forward. It will test man's ability to live and work in space for up to 56 days.

HEALTH

The President invited a tussle with Congress by calling for an end to federal hospital construction under the Hill-Burton program, but his budget calls for an over-all increase of 14 per cent in outlays for health programs, mostly on Medicare and Medicaid.

A $91-million increase in funds for cancer research and $28 million more for heart research—programs favored by Nixon—are requested. But other research programs of the National Institutes of Health would be decreased or held even.

EDUCATION

Nixon proposed a $1.7-billion special revenue-sharing program to combine a number of education programs, and called for a $1.3-billion cutback in funds under the 1965 Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

A deep cut was proposed in special aid for schools in areas where federal installations add to education costs—the "federally impacted areas." The budget called for $131 million for the program, as against $467.5 million this year.

WELFARE

In tacitly conceding defeat for Nixon's welfare-reform plans, the budget says Washington instead will help states remove ineligibles from the welfare rolls and eliminate inequities in the system.

A cutback of $1.2 billion in state-federal public-assistance programs is anticipated, for a total of $12.7 billion. Most of the decline will result from the transfer of aged, blind and disabled beneficiaries to a newly federalized program in the Social Security system next Jan. 1.

1,315 Americans Still Missing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Hundreds of American families remained in doubt today about the fate of their loved ones missing in Southeast Asia.

Communist lists, provided in Paris Saturday when a Vietnam cease-fire was signed, and made public over the weekend by the Defense Department, identified 555 U.S. servicemen as captives and 55 as POWs who had died in captivity.

This left unaccounted for 1,315 of the 1,925 Americans who had been listed by the Pentagon as imprisoned or missing. For as many as 100 of the men on the list of POWS still alive, defense officials say, freedom might come late this week.

The National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, the largest organization of families of POWs and missing, said in a statement its members "hope and pray" there will be a subsequent list. The statement said "some of our worst fears have now materialized" because there was no list of the men captured in Laos, because some known prisoners had been declared dead, or because names were missing from the lists.

But league officers concluded they did "not want to sound pessimistic" because they expected "as full and complete an accounting as possible."

A discrepancy in the total number listed as captured or missing and the Communist list was not unexpected, considering that most of the men disappeared under the extreme conditions of combat. But the news was particularly hard for families which had been led to believe their servicemen were alive or who learned their servicemen had died in prison.

The Pentagon said flatly that "the list is incomplete," and that more names are expected to be provided from Hanoi.

Department spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim said all the men listed were POWS in North or South Vietnam and that a promised list of prisioners in Laos had not been provided Saturday.

But he said the United States is working through diplomatic channels and expects to receive a list from Laos.

Lt. Col. William Nolde is last American to die before the cease-fire. Story and photo on page 2.

Because of this possibility—and because of discrepancies between the exisiting Communist list and previous Pentagon records—Pentagon officials said no change will be made in the old Defense Department listings of missing or captured until the POWS are released, all possible graves in Southeast Asia have been located, and the returned prisioners are interrogated to see what they can tell about the fate of those missing. This could take months or even years to be completed, officials said.

Families were notified by military teams in person or by telephone throughout the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Estes of Williamston, Mich., were puzzled because the name of their son, Navy Lt. Walter Estes Jr., was not on the lists. They said he had appeared in pictures released by North Vietnam shortly after he was shot down Nov. 19, 1967.

"We hope there'll be a supplementary list coming," Estes said. "But we don't know if there is such a thing coming."

The Indochina communists have a 60-day period, which started Saturday when the cease-fire went into effect, to complete the release.

Through intelligence sources, U.S. officials said, they know that at least six airmen were taken alive in Laos. An additional 311 Americans are missing in Laos, which has been the scene of U.S. bombing campaigns for years. The Communists claim they hold no Americans in Cambodia.

Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., warned that if Hanoi refuses to provide a full accounting of Americans held prisoner in Indochina, "massive resistance" will arise in Congress to proposals for reconstruction aid to North Vietnam. He said any future aid will depend largely on the Communists adhering to "both the spirit and letter" of the negotiated settlement.

The State Departmen also listed 26 captured American civilians who are still alive and 13 who had died in Communist prison camps.

Cease-Fire Violations Reported

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese government and its Communist opponents accused each other today of widespread violations of the cease-fire. Officials of the new international peacekeeping force expressed hope of getting teams of observers into the field by Tuesday.

An American soldier died today of wounds suffered Sunday, the first U.S. fatality since the cease-fire went into effect. In the four days prior to the truce, four American military men were killed, and 19 U.S. soldiers and 12 U.S. civilians were wounded.

The U.S. Command announced the withdrawal of another 400 troops today, the second contingent of 400 men to leave since the cease-fire agreement took effect Sunday.

The Command said the men were flown out of the country by commercial airliners. This dropped U.S. troop strength in Vietnam, to 22,700 men. The cease-fire agreement requires them to leave the country by March 28.

The South Vietnamese command reported nearly 500 violations of the cease-fire by Communist forces since it went into effect at 8 a.m. Sunday.

The Viet Cong in a broadcast accused the Saigon government of "unceasingly violating the cease-fire agreement by military actions . . . throughout South Vietnam."

It said its forces "throughout the entire area of South Vietnam have completely carried out the cease-fire."

From one end of the country to the other, reports flowed into Saigon of sharp fighting.

In Quang Tri Province below the demilitarized zone there were heavy artillery barrages just as before the truce. In many other areas, small but bloody battles were fought for control of villages and hamlets before the international observer teams are deployed.

South Vietnamese officials reported that total casualties on both sides since the cease-fire was announced five days ago approached the bloodiest weeks of last year's Communist offensive. They said 6,133 were killed, including 3,322 enemy and 575 government troops. Of these, 1,095 enemy and 168 government men died in the 24 hours beginning at 6 a.m. Sunday, two hours before the cease-fire began.

South Vietnamese air force planes flew bombing missions in support of government troops although the number of sorties was omitted from the daily war communique. U.S. aircraft suspended operations over South Vietnam in accordance with the cease-fire but continued raids over Laos.

There were conflicting reports concerning Cambodia. U.S. officials in Phnom Penh said all bombing was suspended there with the cease-fire, but a Washington report said they continued.

President Lon Nol also ordered all Cambodian ground forces not to engage in offensive military operations from 7 a.m. today, to enable North Vietnamese and Viet Cong forces "to leave our country in the shortest possible time."

There was no immediate indication whether the Communists in Cambodia were cooperating in Lon Nol's cease-fire.

In Vientiane, the Laotian capital, military sources said fighting has increased in southern Laos, but there have been no significant offensives launched by either side to gain territory before a cease-fire is announced. Prince Souvanna Phouma, the Laotian premier, said in New Delhi Sunday that he hopes a cease-fire can be achieved in his country soon.

Peace-Keeping Efforts Hit Snag

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong delegation refused at two sessions today to present its credentials to the four-party joint military commission, stalling the entire peace-keeping apparatus, a source close to the talks said.

Hundreds more cease-fire violations were reported across South Vietnam.

A third meeting was called for tonight in efforts to resolve the presentation of credentials and another diplomatic snag. Nearly 150 additional North Vietnamese delegates flown from Hanoi to Saigon aboard two U.S. Air Force C130 transports staged a plane sit-in at Tan Son Nhut air base, apparently refusing to fill out customs and immigration forms.

It was learned that U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker had personally intervened for the second time in two days in efforts to resolve the haggling.

The four parties — the United States, South Vietnam, North Vietnam and the Viet Cong — met for a total of three hours in morning and afternoon sessions but accomplished "absolutely nothing," the source said.

The United States, South Vietnam and North Vietnam presented their credentials at the first commission meeting attended by all parties in the morning, the source said, but the Viet Cong refused, without citing a reason.

The protocol on the joint commission makes no mention of credentials.

The stalled conference of the four parties marked the first time the United States, North and South Vietnam and the Viet Cong met face to face across a conference table in Saigon.

Two U. S. C130 transports landed shortly before noon at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport, which American jets bombed last month. They picked up about 150 North Vietnamese officers and men for the joint military commission and flew them to Saigon. It was the first time an American military plane had landed in Hanoi since before the Tonkin Gulf incident in August 1964.

On their arrival at the Saigon airport, however, the North Vietnamese refused to leave the plane, apparently because the Saigon government demanded that they fill out its customs and immigration forms. A group of Viet Cong delegates had balked similarly on Sunday, until the government waived the requirement, but another group of North Vietnamese who arrived Sunday had submitted to the formalities without objection.

Representing the United States at today's initial meeting was the deputy chief of the American delegation, Brig. Gen. John A. Wickham Jr., who formerly was the U.S. Commands' deputy chief of staff for economic affairs.

Officials said the meeting of all four parties paved the way for the four-nation International Commission of Control and Supervision to send out men to begin policing the truce, probably Tuesday.

It's Winter Once More

By JON POWERS

KINGSTON

So much for swimming pools, weekends at the lake and gentle summer breezes.

The euphoria of that unbelievable mid-winter thaw came to a cruel and sudden and today when the first major storm of the year roared across the Hudson Valley.

By 8 a.m. today, just when the avalanche was beginning to taper off to a few harmless flurries, the city engineer's office reported a total accumulation of 11 inches. Parts of Ulster County, however, record more than a foot of snow.

The snowfall was a welcome sight for skiers, snowmobilers and schoolchildren. Belleayre Mountain today reported seven inches of new snow, and officials at the beleagured resort said all areas would be open today for the first time in two weeks.

Thousands of children were no doubt delighted by the deluge, as well. All schools throughout the county were closed today.

But the wet and heavy snow caused as many headaches as smiles. Utility wires throughout the area collapsed under the weight of the fresh fallen snow, cutting power and telephone service at varied locations during the night.

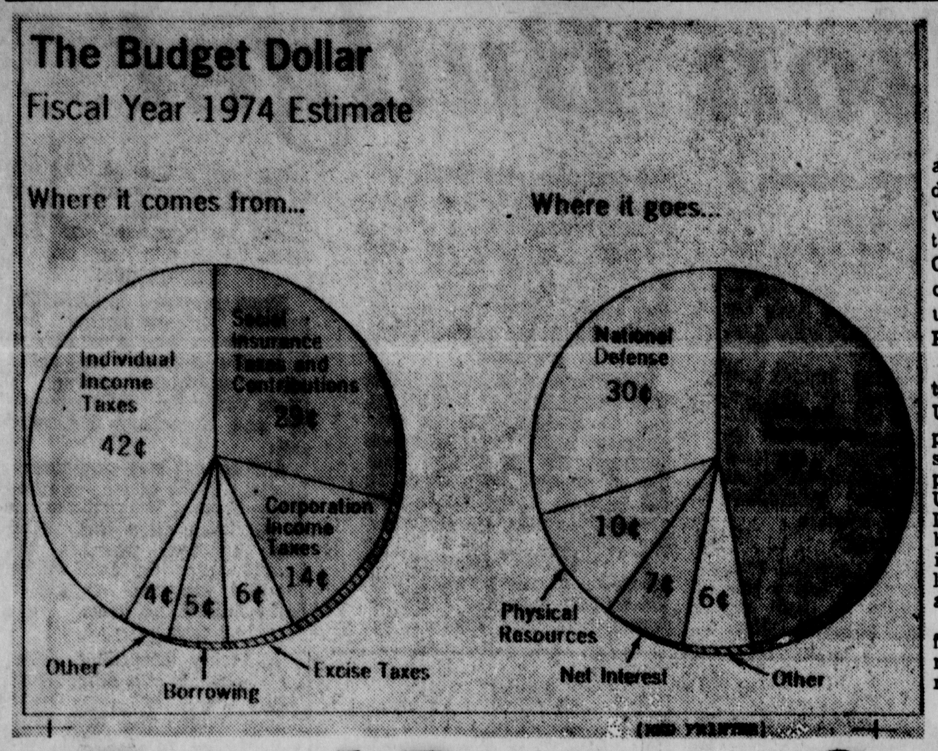

Roads and highways were treacherous from Ellenville to Phoenicia to Saugerties. Most primary roads were kept reasonably clear during the night and early morning, but many of the secondary roads across Ulster County were impossible to navigate.

City plows and sanders worked throughout the night, but Charles Cole, Superintendent of the Department of Public Works, warned that high winds and freezing temperatures late today will cause heavy drifting and icy roads.

The forecast for late today and Tuesday calls for extremely cold temperatures and high winds, but no substantial precipitation.

Nixon Seeks New UR Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cities attempting to rebuild their downtown areas next year won't be able to get funds from the federal government unless Congress approves an urban community-development revenue-sharing program under President Nixon's budget.

In 1974, the President said, the Department of Housing and Urban Development will not approve any new projects under seven community development programs such as Model Cities, Urban Renewal, Open Spaces, Land, Water and Sewer, Neighborhood Facilities and Rehabilitation and Public Facility loans for which $2.2 billion was appropriated this year.

Instead, he said, legislation for urban community development revenue sharing will be resubmitted to start July 1, 1974, with a first-year funding of $2.3 billion.

Budget outlays for HUD in fiscal year 1974 are estimated at $4.7 billion compared with estimated outlays of $3.3 billion in 1973 and actual outlays of $3.6 billion in 1972.

Despite the decreased appropriations for community-development programs, for which $2.16 billion was appropriated this year, budget outlays would rise because of continuing increase in Federal Housing Administration claims and housing payments, officials said.

Most of the increase, however, will result from the fact that outlays expected to continue in 1974 will not be offset by budget receipts from asset sales, which will be only $300 million that year compared to about $1 billion this year.

Four weeks ago, outgoing HUD Secretary George Romney announced an 18-month freeze for subsidized housing and, the President said, the budget takes into account the moratorium.

Despite the freeze, the administration said "it is anticipated that housing starts will be maintained at an average annual rate in excess of 250,000 over the next 18 months."

The proposed budget has enough funds available in carryover authority—$431.1 million—should a re-evaluation of the subsidized housing programs be reinstated in 1974, officials said.

'Broad Purpose Grants' on Tap

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon again has challenged Congress to sweep away dozens of special aid programs—each with a following among the lawmakers—in favor of broad-purpose grants that states and local governments could spend for education, law enforcement, manpower training and urban community development.

The last Congress was cold to these proposals, which the administration calls special revenue sharing. It did, however, enact his $30-billion, five-year general revenue-sharing plan.

In a budget message certain to intensify the dispute between the President and the Democratic-controlled Congress over domestic spending, he wrote:

"The inefficiency of the present grant systems makes favorable action on special revenue sharing by the Congress an urgent priority."

"A momentum of extravagance," he said, "is speeded by requirements created initially by legislative committees sympathetic to particular and narrow causes. These committees are encouraged by special-interest groups and by some executive-branch officials who are more concerned with expansion of their own programs than with total federal spending and the taxes required to support their spending."

Thus he linked his special revenue-sharing proposals with a general warning to Congress that it would be responsible for higher taxes, higher interest rates and more inflation unless it heeded his call for a tight spending ceiling and cutbacks and abolition of some programs.

He called for broad-purpose grants totaling $6.9 billion to replace "over 70 outmoded, narrower categorical grant programs."

Nixon proposed $2.8 billion in education revenue sharing to replace 30 existing programs.

Among the affected programs, one with especially strong congressional support, is federal aid to school districts that enroll large numbers of children of federal military and civil employes.

The proposal would cut out $146-million in aid based on students whose parents work for the government but do not live on federal property.

The budget provides an increase from $855 million this year to $891 million for federal aid to states and localities in law enforcement. Of the new total, $800 million would be in special revenue sharing.

Nixon said he intends to put manpower revenue sharing into effect administratively "to allow the states and localities to group manpower services in ways that best meet local needs." He estimated that $1.3 billion would go to training programs.

The program to provide employment by granting funds to states and localities to hire the unemployed in public-service jobs would be halted. A number of Democrats have introduced bills that would, instead, expand the program. Unemployment has fallen and the states' own resources have increased, the budget document said. It proposed $580 million to pay those completing their employment during the year, but no new starts.

LT. COL. NOLDE

'He Believed in What He Was Doing'

ONAWAY, Mich. (UPI) — Lt. Col. William Nolde was dedicated to the U.S. war effort in Vietnam. He believed the peace settlement was premature. He wanted to come home—but not too quickly.

Nold, 43, of Moun Pleasant, Mich., was the last American to die before the Vietnam cease-fire took effect.

"I'm not bitter," Mrs. Nolde said. "He believed in what he was doing."

The U.S. command said Nolde was killed Saturday—only 11 hours before the end of the war. He died when an artillery round slammed into his bunker in An Loc, the capital of Binh Long province. He was senior American advisor there.

Nolde's wife, Joyce, and five children, ranging in age from 13 to 19, had all gathered here Saturday—the day of the cease-fire—at the home of a friend, 130 miles away from the family home in Mount Pleasant. That's where they learned of his death.

"It's different for all of us," said Mrs. Nolde. "It's difficult but we all believed in what he was doing."

Mrs. Kenneth Olson, a sister of the slain soldier, said her brother wrote recently doubted the wisdom of signing a cease-fire agreement at this time.

"I had written him that I couldn't wait for him to come home, she said.

He wrote back, "I can't wait either, but I do hope we don't rush into signing things too quickly—that we don't give up everything that we have worked for."

Nolde was a 22-year Army veteran. He served tours in Korea, Italy, Germany and the Far East.

A native of Menominee, Mich., he lived in Mount Pleasant from 1962-1966 and was a professor in the ROTC program at Central Michigan University.

"He was dedicated to his country," said Frank Demski, 37, a close friend of Nolde. "He believed more in the people involved in the war—the South Vietnamese—than the war itself."

Ted Cook, a chemistry professor at CMU, got a letter from Nolde two weeks ago. "We tend to think only in terms of what this war has cost us, the United States," the letter said. "But by comparison to what it has cost so many Vietnamese, our price pales."

Nolde expected to come home within six months. He had been appointed to attend classes at the Army War College.

"He was a great man and still is," Mrs. Nolde said. "Maybe this will shake up a few people."

During his last visit to Michigan in June, he told Mrs. Nolde that if something went wrong to go ahead with plans they had made.

"That means he will be buried in Arlington Cemetery, just like he wanted," Mrs. Nolde said.

Weinberger Nomination May be Delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's announced intention to cut sharply into several domestic programs appears certain to delay Senate consideration of the nomination of Caspar W. Weinberger to be secretary of health, education and welfare.

Democratic senators holding up the Weinberger nomination want to question him first about specifics of the cutbacks in the new budget Nixon sent to Capitol Hill today.

The Senate was scheduled to vote this afternoon on the nomination of Elliot L. Richardson, the outgoing HEW secretary, as the new secretary of defense today. He was expected to win confirmation.

That still leaves three of the six new Nixon Cabinet members awaiting Senate approval.

One, Labor Secretary-designate Peter Brennan, is scheduled to be approved today by the Labor and Public Welfare Committee and his nomination could clear the full Senate later in the week.

But Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said Saturday he doesn't know if any action will come this week on the nominations of James Lynn as secretary of housing and urban development and Weinberger.

He said he hopes to win Senate approval this week of a bill requiring Nixon to submit to the Senate for confirmation the top two officials in the Office of Management and Budget, Roy Ash and Frederick Malek.

And Mansfield disclosed he has written all committee chairmen to ask prompt action on measures vetoed by Nixon after congressional adjournment last October, and on other priority proposals as well.

Both Lynn and Weinberger are among those given dual roles as agency heads and presidential advisors.

Any congressional effort to quiz them on the budget cuts could bring an early test of fears by some senators that executive privilege may be used to shield them from full consultation with Congress.

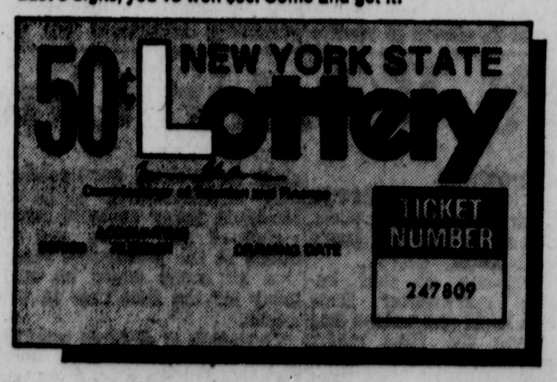

Mansfield said it is doubtful that the Senate will complete action on the Nixon Cabinet by the time it recesses for a few days Feb. 8 for the annual Republican Lincoln Day speeches.

He said "holds" on the nominations placed by unnamed senators would be honored "for a reasonable length of time."

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices firmed up in today's stock market after five straight sessions of weakness.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up fractionally and gaining issues on the New York Stock Exchange took a lead of nearly 2 to 1 over losers.

Still fretting over the inflation potention of the economic Phase 3 program, the market dropped 22.65 points in last week's four sessions, after tumbling 13.17 the week before, as measured by the Dow indicator.

Youth Fair After Mishap

TOWN OF KINGSTON — John P. Winne, 12, of Route 2, Box 238, Kingston, was listed in fair condition today at Benedictine Hospital after reportedly being struck by a snowmobile on Morey Hill Road shortly before 8 a. m. Winne was transferred to the hospital by Doctor's Ambulance Service. Further details were unavailable.

MORIELLO TESTIMONIAL — More than 200 persons turned out Saturday night for a testimonial dinner for former Town of New Paltz Supervisor Anthony Moriello, appointed last October as assistant to the New York State Commissioner of Agriculture. Shown (L-R) are Albert Spada, chairman of the Ulster County Republican Committee; Moriello; Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature and Theodore Lasher, the current supervisor for the Town of New Paltz. (Freeman photo by Powell)

New Rules on Welfare

KINGSTON — A new application procedure for securing welfare has been Ulster County will put the new effect on Feb. 1, according to Bernhardt Kramer, commissioner of special services.

The procedure has been revised to provide the agencies with more complete and exact information for determining eligibility and for arriving at the amount of payment to which the applicant is entitled. It takes into consideration the need for more complete and verification of the following items is required for eligibility determination:

Identity of applicant.
Household composition.
Housing costs.
All income, savings and resources.
Other factors relating to eligibility.

In order to acquaint the public with the new procedure, the agency has informed all Office of Economic Opportunity Offices, town welfare offices, town supervisors, legislators, health departments, and the Social Security Administration.

Posters have also been placed in the agency in both English and Spanish and all clients have been notified. The agency has personnel to assist those who need help in preparing the forms.

The new application has been tested in several New York State counties and has met with remarkable success.

For Period Ending 7 a. m. EST Tuesday

Barber Shop Group Auditions

RED HOOK — The Poughkeepsie New Yorkers, renowned barbershop harmony chorus, will hold an open rehearsal at St. Christophers School in Red Hook Wednesday evening, Jan. 31, at 8 p. m.

In addition to the chorus rehearsal, chapter quartets will demonstrate barbershop quartet singing. The group is a chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. (SPEBSQSA).

Membership in the Poughkeepsie Chapter is open to any men who can carry a tune and who enjoys the traditional barbershop style of music.

Auditions will be available at the time of the meeting for anyone over 16 interested in joining. The meeting is open to the public.

For more information persons may contact W. Norman Slader, 1 Knox Road, Red Hook, or call 758-1073.

Student's Choice at UCCC

STONE RIDGE — Ulster County Community College is offering a wide variety of courses for the spring semester ranging from computer technology to techniques of group teaching and public speaking.

Registration for the computer technology course, entitled Introduction to Data Processing, will take place Tuesday and Wednesday nights between 7 and 9 p.m. at the Stone Ridge campus. The course will meet on Feb. 5 and will thereafter meet on Monday evenings from 7 to 9:40 p.m. Robert Babb, a senior associate programmer at IBM, Kingston, will be the instructor.

Students interested in a course on public speaking can also register Tuesday and Wednesday nights for the course which will be held at Kingston High School on Wednesdays from 7-9:40 p.m. The course carries three hours of college credit.

Persons interested in an eight week review class planned for present and former Criminal Justice students at the college, are advised to contact Associate Professor Theodore E. Dietz for information. The course prepares students for a variety of police examinations. Tests for Kingston Patrolmen and New York City Transit Authority Patrolmen are slated for Feb. 24 while examinations for New York State Police are set for late March . Feb. 6 is the deadline for filing for Transit Authority patrolman; the deadline for Kingston patrolman has passed. The review class, open only to present and former UCC Criminal Justice students, will meet 7-9 p.m. at the Stone Ridge campus beginning Feb 5.

The college's Division of Business will also offer Small Business Management and Office Systems and Procedures for the spring semester. Howard Mills will instruct the Small Business Management course set for Monday nights, 7-9:40 p. m. Office Systems and Procedures will be taught by Alfred Bedell on Wednesday nights at the Stone Ridge Campus from 7-9:40 p. m. Registrations on both courses will be Tuesday and Wednesday nights from 7-9.

The technique of group teaching will be emphasized in a credit free course in Music and Piano, which will meet for 10 weeks on Thursday night, beginning March 8. Mrs. Barbara Zimet of Woodstock, will be the instructor. Information is available from the Office of Continuing Education at the Stone Ridge Campus.

Other courses in the credit-free area include a wide variety of courses for exceptional children and at the life-long learning centers in Boiceville and Saugerties. Also included will be a three-day "lecture-tour" to Williamsburg, Va., May 22-24, along with a course on "The Catskills: History and Folk lore," taught by Alf Evers, long time researcher and writer on regional history.

Credit-free programs are again being offered by the Management Institute, this year including Small Business Administration courses for persons who own or would like to own their own small business.

Credit-free programs are generally offered with the understanding that they must be self-sustaining. If minimum enrollment is not reached one week before the course is scheduled to meet, the offering will be cancelled. Information is available from the college's Office of Continuing Education.

Mideast Peace Year

Secretary of State William P. Rogers is optimistic that 1973 is the year of peace in the Middle East and pledged his own and his department's efforts to back President Nixon to achieve it. After Vietnam, it would eliminate the next most threatening cloud on the international horizon.

Speaking at New York at a farewell dinner for Israeli Ambassador to the United States, Ithshak Rabin, Rogers said his optimism is based on the improved relations between the United States and the Soviet Union and the continuing balance of military power between Israel and the Arabs and the need of both for a resolution of their long conflict.

"We are convinced that both sides—Arabs and Israelis—want a settlement based on the United Nations Security Council resolution of November, 1967," Rogers said. "Thus in our judgment, the doors of diplomacy remain open."

Peace in the Middle East is surely the most beckoning opportunities and Rogers is right in making 1973 the year to achieve it. Also, he is right in suggesting that the most realistic approach to a Middle East settlement would begin with an interim agreement opening the Suez Canal. With international trade flowing through those waters, a psychological ban to further warfare between Israel and Egypt would be set up. Both could go on from there.

Denting Seniority

By voting to make all House committee chairmen subject to an automatic vote of the party caucus, the Democrats made a deep dent in the seniority system which has ruled for the last 60 years. The first chairmen voted on weathered the challenge—W. R. Poage of Texas, chairman of the House Agricultural Committee; and George H. Mahon, also of Texas, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

But others may be in jeopardy, if not this year then in the next session, when opponents will have a chance to organize against them. The change has the seeds of party division, as well as reform. It was opposed with an impassioned plea by Martha W. Griffith of Michigan, one of 14 women members, who said it would bar women, blacks, or Jews—"we are all minorities" — from ever heading a committee.

But the motion itself was put by a woman, Julia Butler Hansen of Washington. Two years ago, she won a minor change, giving any 10 members the right to challenge any committee chairman. None have. This time the challenge will be automatic and every chairman will be subject to vote.

Phillip Burton of California, chairman of the Democratic Study Group, the prime mover for reform, promised to drive for eliminating the closed rule by which floor amendments are prohibited; banning of most closed committee meeting sessions; and providing greater autonomy for subcommittee chairmen.

Drug-Related Articles

Michael R. Geller is a 29-year-old, long-haired teacher who also wears a pointed goatee. He is coordinator of a drug program at Abraham Lincoln High School in Brooklyn. The other day he went out shopping for drug-related articles in the stores in the vicinity of the 4,000-pupil school. What he bought for the outlay of $36.85 was, to say the least, revolting.

In respectable stores, shamelessly advertised in the window, he picked up "Coke Spoons, which are spoons used to snort cocaine, not to sip cola."

Everything was within the means of the ordinary high school student: A pencil to convert into a hashish pipe, price $1; a sun-ray resistant "stash vial" for 50 cents; a combination pipe for hash or pot at $3.50; a machine to filter impurities out of pot at $4.50; a scale for weighing hard and soft drugs at $1.50. And the literature: "Drug manufacturing for fun and profit" and "How to extract hashish from marijuana," each at $1, were typical.

Ultimately, Geller hopes to push for legislation making the sale of such items illegal. Any schools in the country with similar drug problems might look into these sidelines tha stimulate drug addiction.

Hatemonger Gets Radio Time

WASHINGTON — America's most notorius hatemonger, Gerald L. K. Smith, was featured last week on the armed forces radio network.

For 50 years, the old rabble-rouser has been preaching hatred against Jews and blacks. However, his "Cross and Flag" magazine has gone largely unread, and his sermons have gone largely unheard.

Now the Pentagon has put him on its overseas network for two million military and civilian listeners to hear. The moderator, Bill Bertenshaw, gave the address where listeners could get Smith's literature no less than five times.

The old bigot watched his tongue on the military show. Instead of his usual hate thy-neighbor doctrine, he told in saccharine tones how love would solve the world's woes.

"Let's hope your words of wisdom are overheard by our congressmen," purred the moderator.

Smith got on the armed forces network through the New Jersey Council of Churches, which packages a regular religious show called "Suggested Solutions." The council, apparently, was impressed with a "religious" complex that Smith is building in Eureka Springs, Ark.

This features a seven-story "Christ of the Ozarks" shrine, a "Passion Play" and other Biblical attractions. On the show, Smith boomed his projects as "the most visited Christian shrine in America" and told how he was "led by the Holy Spirit and established these shrines."

He neglected to mention that a federal road project to the shrine was blocked after the government discovered that Smith was behind it. The Anti-Defamation League also has reported that his "Passion Play" is anti-Semitic.

Armed forces radio director John Broger, an evangelical fundamentalist, was taken with the religious series and authorized it to be broadcast to the troops overseas. He told us, however, he was unaware that the notorious hate preacher had been included in the series.

He had broadcast it over his own and the Voice of America shortwave transmitters, he said, without monitoring it. "We will investigate it," Broger promised. "It won't happen again."

It won't be the only investigation. Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., has learned about the broadcast and has demanded an explanation. And in New York City, the Anti-Defamation League is also asking Defense Secretary Melvin Laird "how come?"

Morton's Forked Tongue

Documents taken from government files dispute Interior Secretary Rogers Morton's testimony the other day in praise of the Administration's efforts to boost Indian employment. He told Congress happily that the number of Indians in industrial jobs has increased in recent years from 500 to 2,500.

But a memo from former Indian Commissioner Louis Bruce suggests a completely different story. "Despite the expenditure of $179.2 million," states the memo, "40 per cent remain unemployed" on the reservations.

The memo is dated October 17, scarcely two months before Morton made his reassuring statement on Capitol Hill. Not only does the memo show that Indian unemployment is rising at a dangerous rate but also that the government is wasting money on Indian training programs.

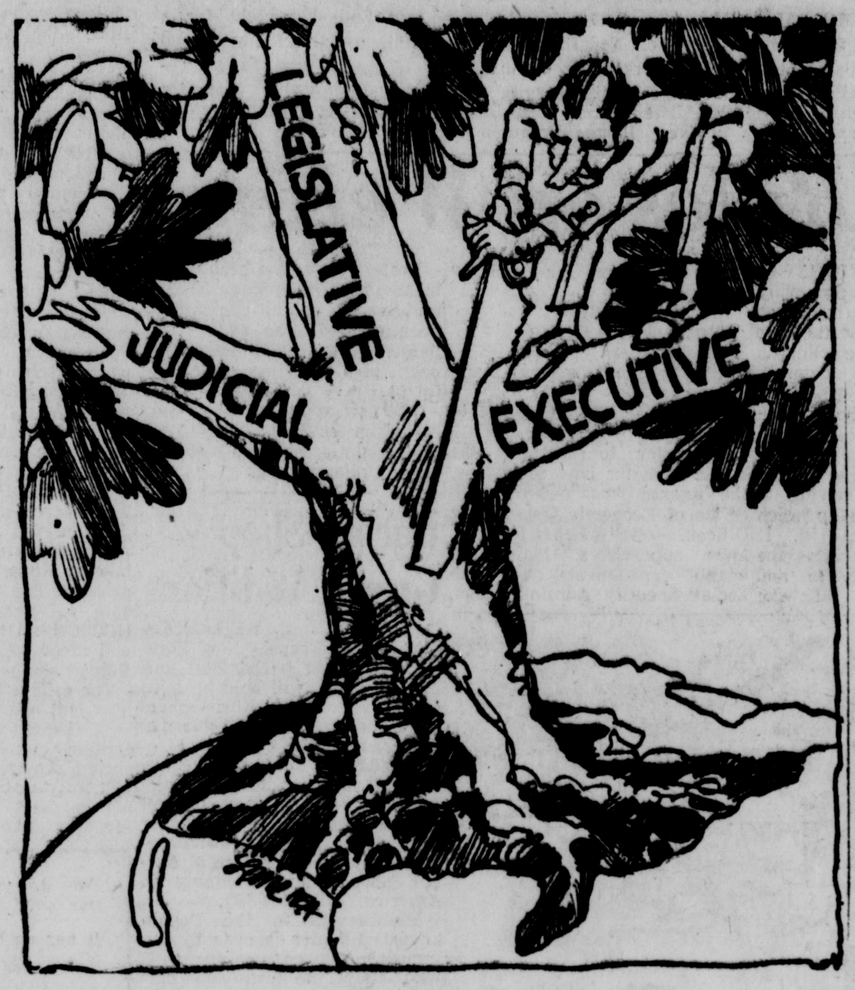

On one $3 million contract, for instance, the contractor pocketed a generous $188,000, administration cost another $274,000 and taxes took $75,000.

Another wastefully run project, intended to train Indian police, cost $104 per week for each trainee — almost twice the $53.85 per week it costs to train New York City trainees.

Hanger-on — Ex-Rep. Hastings Keith, R-Mass., can't get Congress out of his system (and vice versa). Although his last day in office was January 3, Keith is still using his old haunts in the House Commerce Investigating subcommittee as a Washington office, amassing a large number of long-distance phone calls. When we caught him in the office, Keith told us that he is just trying to find a job with the federal government and promised that he will repay the taxpayers for all those long-distance calls.

Political Deal? — Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., fears political operatives in the field are overruling the Interior Department's expert conservationists when big corporate money is at stake. Dingell recently wrote Interior Secretary Rogers Morton that Emmett Willard, Interior's "field representative" in the Northwest, had stepped in on the side of the politically powerful Weyerhaeuser company. Interior's Bureau of Sports, Fisheries and Wildlife was blocking a Weyerhaeuser subsidiary from developing a site on a picturesque lagoon near Douglas Point, Wash. Only four days after the Bureau warned against developing the lagoon, Willard overruled it. As House conservation chairman, Dingell charged Willard's action was "outrageous" and demanded an explanation from Morton. The secretary has promised to review the Douglas Point case.

Ode to Nixon — President Nixon's firing of top aides has stimulated not only growls but poetry. A "New 23rd Psalm" is now making the rounds of the sub-cabinet. It begins: "Nixon is my shepherd, I shall always want; he maketh me to lie down on park benches; he leadeth me beside the still factories. He restoreth my doubts in the Republican Party . . . ."

Bruce Biossat Says

Rocky Hot '76 Item

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Talks with the state Republican officials, who were tapped in a kind of mini-survey, disclose surprising 1976 presidential interest in Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

His own state leaders say there is a least a 50 per cent chance he will run for a fifth term next year, and they think he could win it. Nobody seems terribly bothered by the fact that this hardy perennial would be 68 in 1976.

"He's still very bouncy," says a woman from a mid-western state.

Even in a reasonably conservative bastion like Illinois there is a lot of Rockefeller talk, though the state has its own moderate presidential prospect, Sen. Charles Percy.

A southern party leader doubts that Rocky would score heavily there as against some conservative rival, but agrees with those in other regions that the governor is far more acceptable across-the-board than he used to be. Speaking for his own area, the southerner adds:

"He's changed, and we've changed."

What this man is talking about, of course, is Rockefeller's evident bent toward a more conservative stance, as seen in his tough prescription for the drug problem, his fiscal caution, and his virtually total support of President Nixon. Mr. Nixon's capture of New York last fall with 59 per cent in the vote is remembered well.

The genuine interest in Rocky is bad news for Percy. Most leaders mention him, but few do so favorably. He is clearly anathema to the South, and there is an unmistakable undercurrent of animosity toward him in some northern places. The articulated complaints: too pushy, too transparently "on the make" for 1976, not loyal enough to Mr. Nixon.

Asked about Percy, a Rockefeller man laughs and says:

"He's in the position we used to be in."

With all this, I heard no forecasts of Rockefeller's nomination. The southern thing is still a handicap. And, up to now, Rocky's people never have shown the needed strategic skills at the national level.

On paper, at least, the real edge today belongs to Vice President Spiro Agnew. Niggling stuff about him not knowing state party people doesn't count for much. Most leaders I spoke to concur with one who says:

"He can correct that in a month's time if he wants to."

Agnew's advisers think he wants to and will do so, but not too quickly, since there isn't much real interest yet. The fact about the state party setup is that a lot of the people are new, and nobody knows very many of them well.

Agnew's bigger problem is finding ways to measure himself satisfactorily against the magnitude of the presidency. As noted before, he needs carefully chosen, serious assignments, and must execute them well.

If a chill toward him exists in the White House high command, as some published reports suggest, Agnew's needed opportunities might be deliberately restricted. But Mr. Nixon and his men can hardly reduce him to total ineffectuality without risking a boomerang effect. After all, they chose him as presumably fit to succeed the President.

If Agnew gets his chances and builds status with the party, Mr. Nixon won't be able to veto him. Conversely, the President won't be able to secure the nomination for someone like John Connally just by giving him juicy jobs and talking him up. Connally will have to end quickly the vagueness about his party status to get consideration. Right now, GOP leaders see him pretty fuzzily, for all his notoriety.

Blue Marlin Picks Its Spot

The best fishing was west of Grand Bahama Island. We took Kellyo north at 19 knots keeping her in the lime jello shoals off Wood Key until we reached Memory Rock. Then we'd pull her her down to idling, the big exhausts gargling in the salt water, and try some bottom fishing for live bait.

The sky was paled out. There was a mound of vanilla toward Treasure Key, low in the sky. On the other side, a rusty tanker crept along the rim of the world with a bone in her teeth.

The sea was like looking down into a sunny glass of water. My wife dropped a spinner with a clam and reeled in a Queen Trigger. It fought beyond its capacity. I saw a busted sardine, far below, go for my line. When I reeled in 140 feet, it turned out to be a four-foot barracuda.

We trolled a ballyo and put the Queen Trigger on a hook. From the flying bridge, I set Kellyo at five knots and rocked around a half-mile circle with that Queen Trigger flopping on the inside.

Nothing happened. Dead nothing. We moved Kellyo out farther into the blue. The ballyo line snapped and hit a high whine. It was mine. I tumbled down the ladder, leaving Kellyo to find her way. Big sea rods are tough and mean unless you know how to pump them in. I saw a flash of foam behind the boat and a big bill "Blue," I said.

All my life I had been trying for a Blue Marlin. I can make almost any fish — almost — but not that one. This fish tried everything — sounding, throwing the hook, lying lifeless, swimming with me — everything. I boated him in 22 minutes. It was a 65-pound sailfish. No Blue Marlin.

We tranquillized him with a baseball bat. Kelly sat starboard, watching the Queen Trigger. It was still flopping. Something big and dark and slow came up on top and took the Trigger. In a moment, I was topside, and swung starboard to keep her fish behind the boat.

I never saw my wife work like that. She was in a blue silk Hawaiian shirt and canary yellow slacks. The sweat popped on her forehead and dropped off her chin. She pumped. She puffed. She groaned. I tried to help. "No!" she said, shouting. "I boat my own." She worked almost three quarters of an hour.

Suddenly her feet went through the portable ice chest. It splintered. She kept working. In time, she tired the fish. He came up big and slow and I got the gaff. The Kellyo was 35 feet. That lemon shark was half the size of the boat.

He had a head like a Volkswagen. "Gaff him!" she yelled. I did. He didn't flinch. Just turned and swam slowly under the keel of the boat, got on the far side, and shook his head once. That snapped the line.

Kelly cried. She called him a few words I hadn't heard. The palm of one hand was bleeding. We went back to the marina at speed. I saw Bob Brumby. "If you know any couple who can't afford to rent a boat, tell 'em to come with us tomorrow."

The early sun was hot and made long blue shadows. At the marina, Brumby took the pipe out of his mouth and introduced Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Ohio. He was tall, good looking, a young friendly man. Mrs. Miller was pretty, and pretty devoted to him.

Did they know anything about game fishing? Two smiles. Nothing. Until they reached the hotel, they had never seen the Atlantic Ocean. "Okay," I said, not meaning okay. "Kelly, you take the boat out of the marina slow and I'll show Mr. Miller how to work a sea line."

Mrs. Miller was talking home stuff to Kelly. I rigged a line and wired a ballyo to it. I explained how the bait floats behind the boat, how the big fish thinks it's alive, how to wait for a second hit before putting the drag on. He understood nothing. Kellyo had barely cleared the marina in a shallow channel when the sea exploded behind us.

"Sit!" I yelled. I pushed him down, strapped him in. Nothing ever hit a line at the marina basin. Miller didn't know what to do. But he was young and big. I made him work. His eyeballs popped. That fish leaped twisting straight up. Miller won. And lost. And lost. And won. The people outside the marina could see us.

He got his fish in 20 minutes. I gaffed him. It was a precious Blue Marlin, about 120 pounds. A beauty. All my life — ah, forget it. He was too big for the transom. I lassoed him with two half-inch manila lines and had to hoist him above the exhausts.

Then I crept to the flying bridge and turned back to the dock. "We going back?" Miller said softly. "Is this all there is to it?" . . .

Fight Fire On Levan Street

KINGSTON — Fire and smoke damaged a three story brick home at 46 Levan Street shortly after noon Sunday.

Kingston firemen responded at 12:23 p. m. to an alarm at the home, owned and occupied by Mrs. Frances E. Gallagher. They found fire burning in the second floor ceiling between a bathroom and bedroom. The fire also extended along beams and burned up a partition to the third floor before it was extinguished by firemen who used the department's aerial ladder to cut several ventilation holes in the roof.

Fireman Richard Hatch of the Rapid Hose Company received a laceration of the left index finger and was given first aid at the scene.

Fire officials said the fire probably was caused by defective wiring. Central Hudson crews disconnected electrical service to the building.

Memoriam

In loving memory of my mother, Ada Campbell, who passed away 9 years ago today, January 29, 1964.

Today recalls sad memories,
Of a dear mother gone to rest.
And the one who thinks of her today,
Is the one who loved her best.

Daughter,

Verdict Withheld In Brody Death

WOODSTOCK — No official verdict has yet been issued in the alleged suicide of millionaire Michael J. Brody.

Coroner Richard Buono, who was out of town today, has been withholding the verdict pending the receipt of reports from the police laboratory.

The body of the 24-year-old oleomargerine heir was scheduled to be cremated today and funeral services will be held Tuesday at the Mountainside Chapel with the ashes being sent later to Chicago to be placed in the family mausoleum.

Craig Nolan, Brody's manager said that the eccentric millionaire who once tried to give away his fortune in the streets of New York killed himself because of the Vietnam peace settlement.

Brody's body was found Friday with a hunting rifle propped between his knees and a single bullet through the head. The multi-million dollar fortune he once tried to give away was still in the bank.

Nolan said the peace agreement was "the most significant factor" in Brody's suicide at his father-in-law's home in Ashokan, N.Y.

"It hit us like a tragedy, just an incredible thing," Nolan said. "I guess we knew it was coming. He talked about it right from the beginning of the whole thing, when he began giving away the money."

Brody was twice placed under psychiatric care. "If he's insane, he's insane in a beautiful way," his wife, Renee once said.

Brody was the grandson of John F. Jelke, the "oleomargarine king." He caused a nationwide stir in the winter of 1970 when he announced that he was going to give away his money and walked the streets of New York handing out bills.

While hundreds of people besieged his rented $400,000 home in Scarsdale, N.Y., Brody and Renee went on the Ed Sullivan show to sing some of the young millionaire's rock-music songs. He flew to Honolulu and gave a bizarre concert where he told the audience:

"You are all phonies. You should give your money to end the war . . . instead of wasting it on this concert."

Two years later, Brody was charged with arson after being found sitting in front of his sister's burning home in Norwalk, Conn. The charges were later dismissed.

A day before the arson incident, Brody was accused by the government of making telephone calls to the White House threatening President Nixon.

Nolan said the calls were part of Brody's antiwar campaign.

"Most people can't get through to the President," he said. "But Michael tried."

At one time Brody claimed his inheritance ran into the billions, but subsequent investigation revealed he did not even control the entire Jelke fortune, which was divided among other heirs. Nolan said that at the time of his death Brody was receiving maintenance checks from a family trust.

Nolan said Brody's body would be cremated Monday in the Woodstock, N.Y. area where he lived. A service will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the Mountainside Chapel in Woodstock. The ashes will be placed in the family mausoleum in Chicago, Nolan said.

Three Stores In Woodstock Are Cited

WOODSTOCK — Three Woodstock stores were issued appearance tickets by the township constabulary on Sunday for alleged violations of the Sunday Blue Law.

For two of the establishments, Hapiglop and Woodstock Sound Center, it was the second Sunday in a row that they were cited for alleged violations. The third store cited was Woodstock Aquarius.

Although some stores were given warnings on Sunday, Chief Constable William Waterous said today that no further warnings will be given: "I think due to the publicity that this has gotten that most stores have had sufficient warning," Waterous said.

Ten stores which were issued appearance tickets last Sunday had their cases adjourned until Feb. 9, following an appearance before Town Justice Rudolph Baumgarten Friday night.

Two Injured In Plane Crash

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP) —Two South Carolina men have been injured—one of them critically—in the crash of a single-engine plane in a wooded area about three miles west of this Orange County community Sunday, State Police said.

State troopers identified the two as Hardy Swanson, 43, of Florence, S.C. and James Assing, 45, of Columbia, S.C.

Swanson, the pilot of the craft, was listed as being in critical condition in a local hospital, police said.

The aircraft was reportedly enroute to Manchester, N.H., from Florence, S.C.

Matthews Back On Fire Board

KINGSTON — Mayor Francis R. Koenig announced today that he is reappointing Donald Matthews to the Kingston Board of Fire Commissioners to a three-year term, effective today and expiring on Dec. 31, 1975.

Matthews, a resident of 102 Abruyn Street, and a member of Union Hose, begins his second term.

May Wedding Being Planned

SHARON ANN VAN WARNER

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Van Warner of Box 424, Saugerties, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Ann, to David B. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Lewis of Indiana, Pa.

Miss VanWarner is a 1970 graduate of Saugerties High School and is employed at Kingston Plaza.

Her fiance, a 1965 alumnus of Indiana Area Senior High School, Indiana, Pa., is employed at IBM in Kingston.

A May wedding is planned.

Rich - Hershoff Betrothal Told

Mr. and Mrs. Graydon B. Rich of 6 Crescent Street, East Hampton, Conn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcia Ann, to Lawrence Stephen Hershoff of Rochester, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hershoff of 14 Vans Terrace in Lake Katrine.

The bride-elect, a 1969 graduate of E. Hampton High School, is a senior year history major at Clark University, Worcester, Mass. Miss Rich is an undergraduate history representative and student assistant at Robert Hutchings Goddard Library, Clark University.

Her fiance, an alumnus of Verona, N. J., High School and a 1971 magna cum laude graduate of Clark University where he was treasurer of Kappa Phi fraternity, is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and will receive his master's degree in business administration in June from University of Rochester. Beginning in February, he will be employed by Industrial National Bank of Providence, R. I., as a regional lending officer.

A late spring wedding is planned.

Welcome Wagon Plans Benefit Socials

Board members of the Greater Kingston Welcome Wagon Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Thomas Olsson of Overlook Drive, Hurley. Plans were discussed for a card party and wig fashion show by Peter's Wig Corner to be held in March. Proceeds will be for the benefit of charity.

Munchin' Mates will meet Wednesday, Feb. 7, at 12:30 p.m. at the Bowery Dugout. On Thursday, Feb. 15, the Sew and Sews will meet at the home of Mrs. John Parker in Woodstock at 10:30 a.m. Children are invited to bring their mothers for a morning of get-togetherness, knitting, sewing, embroidery, mending. Details are available from Janet Parker.

A group of members and guests held a bowling party recently. More than 20 couples attended.

Many newcomers have become acquainted and interested in the numerous services and social activities in this area through the Welcome Wagon Club. Anyone knowing of newcomers in the community is asked to contact the area hostesses, Mrs. Charles Selzo, Mrs. Harold Van Allen, Mrs. John Skinner, Mrs. Frank Lauffer, or the answering service.

About the Folks

Mrs. Anna Onderdonk and Mrs. Ruth Mack of 114 Tremper Avenue, Kingston, took a bus trip to New York recently. During their three days stay, they visited their cousin, Mrs. Gertrude Burroughs, saw the Ice Capades, and visited Radio City Music Hall.

The Heritage clock is alive and well.
In response to numerous inquiries regarding the welfare and whereabouts of the beloved old timepiece so long a Wall Street landmark and recently so callously struck down in the dark of night by an unidentified motorist, the officers of Heritage Savings Bank have issued a statement, reproduced in part as follows:
"... the clock is now in intensive care, where it is receiving the close attention of the finest technicians in the greater Kingston area. Indications are that repairs and reconstruction will involve transplant of at least some of its major works as well as a general facelift. It is expected that, barring unforseen complications, the clock will be back at the same old stand in the near future."

We're Blowing Our Own Horn About Freeman Fashion Show

Already it appears that the fifth annual Freeman fashion show will be another "sell out."

Within the space of only one week, well over 600 tickets have been sold to a public eager to view the finest of 1973 fashions, colors, fabrics and silhouettes.

This year's show, given for the benefit of United Way of Ulster County, will be staged for the first time at Community Theater. The date is Tuesday, Apr. 3. Curtain at 7:30.

More than 40 stores in Ulster, Northern Dutchess and Dutchess counties are expected to participate in the biggest and most complete style production in the Hudson Valley. In addition to the wide selection of fashions, various entertainment and surprises are also planned.

General coordinator of the 1973 Freeman Fashion Premiere is Dorothy A. Narel, women's page editor. She is being assisted by Joan L. Woinoski. Advertising promotions for the fashion tabloid to be published in conjunction with the show are being handled by Joan Conway. Dianne Norton of the Downtown Freeman staff is ticket chairman.

Ticket coupons are being published on the Women's Pages of the newspaper on almost daily basis. Coupons may be mailed along with payment to Miss Norton at 3 Broadway. Tickets are also available at the Uptown Freeman Office on Fair Street and at Community Theatre. Early reservations are advised. There are no reserved seats. Tickets are sold on a first come, first served basis.

No Hand-Holding Until a Doctor's at Hand

Dear Abby
BY ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have never seen a problem like mine in your column. I am a 15-year-old girl and I never let a boy hold my hand because I have ugly warts on my fingers and I am so ashamed of them. My family can't afford to send me to a doctor to have them removed and I have tried every kind of compound and even rubbing potato on them, but they don't go away.

Please help me.

LOVE FROM FT. MYERS, FLA.

DEAR LOVE: Ask your school nurse if there is a free clinic in your area. Some doctors donate their services, and perhaps one would agree to remove your warts and solve your problem. (P.S. Write to tell me if you have any luck.)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I am a blind and partially paralyzed veteran who has been home from Vietnam since 1968, and one of my biggest pleasures was listening to you on CBS radio. It was only about five minutes a day, but I never missed it, and it sure cheered me up. Lately I can't find it. Did they take it off or what?

DISAPPOINTED IN N.Y.

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: No! I am still on CBS radio six days a week, but they changed the time of my program all over the U.S. Telephone your local CBS radio station and ask them what time Dear Abby is on now. And God bless!

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Years ago when one received an R.S.V.P. invitation to a wedding, no response was taken to mean the answer was negative. Who changed all that?

About a month ago I received a wedding invitation from out of state. The groom is my cousin, and I never met the bride. Well I didn't respond one way or the other because I had no intention of going.

Yesterday, I recieved a very formal-type letter from the bride to please let her know at my "earliest convenience" whether I am coming or not!

Several other members of my family received the identical letter. We all think this is very peculiar to get such a letter from a total stranger. Have things changed?

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Nothing has changed. All R.S.V.P. invitations should be acknowledged promptly with either an acceptance or a decline. (Wherever did you get the idea that to ignore an invitation was to decline it?)

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Since your reading audience is vast; may I pass on some advice that is valuable, yet possibly not well known? It is regarding burns.

Not too many years ago, a physician burned his hand, and immediately immersed it in ice water. He found that the pain left while it was in the ice water, but what surprised him even more was that there was no blistering, redness, ulceration, or scarring. He reported the incident, and now many doctors order immediate ice baths until they can get there. The results have been amazing.

Check this out with your medical experts if you have any doubts.

IOWA DOCTOR

DEAR DOCTOR: I've been aware of the above discovery concerning burns for some time. But it won't hurt to remind folks to reach for an ice cube instead of the greasy stuff.

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to comment on the letter signed "Right or Wrong" from the wife who was mad at her husband because he was too tired to mow the lawn then he went next door and worked on the roof of a neighbor's house. This neighbor was a cute young widow whom the wife described as a woman who never paid for anything "in cash."

When the wife saw her husband working on her neighbor's roof she went over and hit him a good one with the dust mop, and you said it was a draw between which one was right or wrong.

I don't think so. A woman should never hit a man unless she is prepared to be hit back. I have never hit my wife, but then she's never hit me, either.

Also, that wife should find out what it is the widow pays with and do likewise. After all, they both have the same equipment in the dark.

Paltz Is Home of New Theatre Group

A theater group dedicated to producing new plays by area playwrights is forming in New Paltz. The idea was originated by Don Bellinger, proprietor of the Academy Theater in New Paltz. The Academy will be the home of the new group.

The first play to be produced, "The Lady and the Bandit" was written by Lance Belville who lives in West Shokan. It is a long, one-act comedy about two people, as the name implies, a lady and a bandit. Woody Leafer, an actor newly moved to New Paltz after two decades of trodding the boards in New York, will be directing the new group's first production.

The cast requires a male between 25 and 50 years; as playwright Belville describes him, "protein, poetic and proletarian." A woman between 25 and 40 is also needed. The playwright describes her as "beautiful and tough as nails, the way a lady should be."

Anyone interested in auditioning or those interested in stage design, lighting, costumes, and playwriting, are asked to contact Woody Leafer at New Paltz.

KHS Reunion

The first organizational meeting for the reunion of Kingston High School, class of 1963, will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in room 119 of the high school.

Classmates who are interested in working on the reunion but cannot attend Wednesday's meeting should contact Kathleen Murphy Boduch or Wayne Reynolds, both of Kingston.

GAYLE M. KING, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. King of 57 Clifton Avenue, Kingston, has been accepted at University of Maryland where she will study for her masters degree in Education. Miss King, a June, 1972, graduate of State University of New York at Oneonta, received a Bachelor of Science degree with honors in Psychology. She is a member of Alpha Kappa Phi sorority.

DONATION GIVEN—Mrs. David Squires, treasurer of Eta Eta, Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, presents a check in the amount of $160 to Bruce Link, assistant to the director of Daytime Training Centre on Delaware Avenue, Kingston, while Joseph Ryan, executive director of the Centre, looks on. The check represents proceeds of the Chapter's Christmas bazaar held in November 1972. Eta Eta also gave a Christmas party at the Day Centre for the children on December 16, 1972. Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carr of Krumville Road, Olivebridge, announce the engagement of their daughter, Elise Joan, to Ralph Stanley Carr, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carr of Nashville, N.C.

The bride-elect, a 1968 graduate of Onteora Central School, attended Ulster County Community College.

Her fiance, an alumnus of Nashville High School, served six years in the U.S. Air Force and is a veteran of Vietnam. He is a jet mechanic employed at Thermal Airport, Indio, Calif.

A May 5 wedding is planned.

B and P Club Meeting Slated

The B and P Club of the YWCA will meet for supper Wednesday at 8 p.m. Reservations should be made at the Y by Tuesday noon.

A program of reminiscences is planned inasmuch as the Club will soon celebrate its 50th anniversary. Many former members are planning to attend and share in the program.

BIG BLAST — Jack Nicklaus blasts from a sand trap on the 16th hole during play in the final round of the Crosby Pro-Am tourney at Pebble Beach, Sunday. Nicklaus shot a four to par the hole. (UPI)

Moody Is in the Dumps

Nicklaus Is Sorry, Too

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — If Orville Moody feels a little down today over what happened to him in the windup of the Crosby National Pro-Am, he can take solace in the fact that Jack Nicklaus feels sorry for him, too.

Moody, a man who hasn't won anything worth mentioning in four years, or since he took the U.S. Open and the World Series of Golf in 1969, had the Crosby all but wrapped up Sunday until the final hole when he missed a little two-foot putt with thousands watching over his shoulder at Pebble Beach and millions more on television.

That forced a playoff with Nicklaus and Ray Floyd, another guy who hasn't won much in the last four years, and guess who won it on the first hole.

Nicklaus today is winging his way home to Ohio—to announce a new golf tournament for the fall schedule—with $36,000 of Bing Crosby's money while Moody is heading home to Texas with only $16,650, the same amount Floyd won.

Nicklaus and Floyd, playing ahead of Moody, finished with one-under-par 71s, Jack keeping himself alive with a clutch, 20-foot par putt on the 16th. Floyd headed to the press room to tell newsmen of his round while Nicklaus stood around on the 18th green to watch Moody.

Then, it happened.

All Moody had to do to win the tournament was make that short putt, but he didn't. So he had to head for the 15th hole with Nicklaus and Floyd to decide the winner.

Moody put his second shot 15 feet from the pin on the par-four hole, while Nicklaus got inside of him and was only 12 or so feet away. Floyd was in trouble when his shot landed among the spectators ringing the green.

Floyd pitched up but his shot only got as far as the edge of the green. Moody was next and his try for a birdie putt wound up a couple of feet short. Floyd tried again and this time he ran his shot past the pin by several feet and was out of it.

Now it was Nicklaus' turn. He stood over the putt, the way he does over most putts, lined up and let the club fly. The ball fell in and it was all over.

As for Moody, Jack said:

"I stood on the 18th geen and watched Orville putt out, and while I was a little excited about getting another chance, I felt sorry for Orville. He hasn't won anything in four years, but the tournament is over 72 holes and you have to make all the putts. I missed some easy ones myself but Orville's miss on 18 looks bigger because of the situation."

Nicklaus goes to Buffalo, N.Y., tonight after a stop in Cincinnati to announce the Ohio-Kings Island Tournament for Oct. 1-4, to receive the Dunlop Athlete of the Year award.

Palmer, who didn't win a title last year, and Casper, who hasn't won since the 1971 Kaiser, were among the casualties here. Palmer once again failed to make birdie putts, at least six easy ones in the second round, and finished at 297, 15 strokes off the pace, while Casper, who had a four-stroke lead after two rounds, wound up at 287.

Dave Marr finished fourth 285 and won $9,460, while Rod Funseth and Lee Elder won $6,930 for finishing at 286 Casper and Iverson were at 287 while Butch Baird, Lee Trevino, Howie Johnson and Gibby Gilbert finished at 288.

Knicks Really Had It...

Nip Celts Twice in Clutch

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knicks had it when they needed it. The Philadelphia 76ers needed it just as badly and, as they've been doing all season, they simply couldn't find it.

The Knicks, who went into the weekend's National Basketball Association action trailing Boston by 2½ games in the Atlantic Division, came out of it just half a game behind the Celtics. They beat the Celts 111-108 in New York Saturday, then ventured into enemy territory and did it again, this time 96-93 Sunday on national television. They pulled off their twin triumphs in ways that were both very different and very similar.

They were different because, it New York, they did it with a come-from-behind effort while, in the Sunday squeaker, they built up a massive lead, then had to withstand a furious rush by the Celtics which all but obliterated it.

And they were similar because, in both instances, it was Walt Frazier to the rescue for the Knicks. On Saturday night, he sank a jump shot, then stole Boston's inbounds pass and flipped in a layup and finally hit two free throws, all in the closing minute, to key the victory.

And on Sunday, Frazier clicked for 13 of his team-high 23 points in the final six minutes as the Knicks, whose 17-point third-quarter lead was whittled to just one point, staved off the Celts' charge.

The 76ers, with Kevin Loughery making his home debut as their player-coach, appeared on the verge of halting a 10-game tailspin. They led Buffalo 96-93 with 2½ minutes to go. Then the roof caved in. The Braves scored the last eight points of the game, four of them by Bob McAdoo, and won 101-96 to saddle Philly with its 49th loss in 53 games.

In Sunday's other NBA games, Los Angeles swamped Seattle 130-94, Chicago defeated Detroit 110-105; Houston topped Atlanta 116-108 and Baltimore beat Cleveland 102-93. Besides the Knicks' victory Saturday, Baltimore blitzed Buffalo 115-87, Atlanta nosed out Kansas City-Omaha 129-126, Portland flipped Phoenix 116-109 and Los Angeles slugged Golden State 122-107.

The Lakers, widening their Pacific Division lead to seven games, blew the SuperSonics off the floor in the first half. They raced to a 23-8 lead, Seattle cut the margin to 31-22, then Los Angeles put on another burst for a 64-39 halftime edge. Wilt Chamberlain hit for 22 points and Gail Goodrich and Jim McMillian kicked in with 18 apiece.

"If ever we should have lost a game," Chicago Coach Dick Motta said, "it was today, because I've never felt so much like an underdog." He mentioned a few injured Bulls and the fact that they'd lost three games to the Pistons this year, then said: "Everything was stacked against us."

The teams were stacked against each other every once in a while—like Jerry Sloan and Detroit's Willie Norwood. They got into a fistfight in the game marred by 52 fouls and three straight technicals against the Bulls.

NCAA Championship Next UCLA Target

By United Press International

Now that UCLAs' Bruins have gotten such silly business as a 61-game winning streak out of the way, they can concentrate on their real target this season.

Winning another NCAA championship.

"There's definitely a possibility of a letdown now," says Coach John Wooden, whose Bruins face a string of 10 straight Pacific-8 games—beginning Saturday night against arch-rival Southern California, which is tied with UCLA for the conference lead at 4-0. But, he added, "There's less chance of a letdown against USC than if we were playing someone else."

The Bruins surpassed the 60 straight victories of the Bill Russell-K. C. Jones - University of San Francisco teams in the mid-50s with an 82-63 romp Saturday over Notre Dame, which was the last team to beat them, two years ago.

All other members of the top 10 to see action won Saturday, except for No. 3-ranked North Carolina, which lost its second in a row. The Tar Heels, who had been upset by Virginia last Thursday, dropped a 94-88 decision to fourth-ranked Maryland.

Second-ranked North Carolina State, the only unbeaten major team besides UCLA, made Furman its 14th victim, 98-73; No. 5 Long Beach State topped Northern Illinois in its first-ever game at New York's Madison Square Garden, 101-86; No. 6 Indiana remained atop the Big Ten race by beating Michigan, 79-73; No. 7 Minnesota beat Michigan State, 93-77; Marquette, ranked eighth, beat Loyola of Chicago, 73-54; and ninth-ranked Houston beat Nevada-Las Vegas, 104-94.

Southwestern Louisiana, which is ranked No. 10, was idle this weekend.

Three teams in the second ten lost Saturday — Auburn upset 16th-ranked Vanderbilt, 81-77; Providence, No. 13, beat Jacksonville, No. 17, 87-84; and No. 18 New Mexico lost to Colorado State, 76-67.

Missouri beat Nebraska, 78-65, Alabama topped Tennessee, 72-56, St. John's walloped Dartmouth, 106-66, Kansas State beat Oklahoma State, 74-64, Oregon State beat Oregon, 80-60, and San Francisco crushed San Francisco State, 89-46.

Three Veterans Named

George Kelly Named to Hall

NEW YORK (AP) — They called him "High Pockets," but George Kelly was more than just a colorful appellation.

To Frankie Frisch, he was one of the finest first baseman who ever lived. To Waite Hoyt, he was a dangerous man in the clutch.

And to the people who vote for such things, he is a perfect choice for the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Kelly, the power-armed infielder of the New York Giants in the 1920s, was elected to the Hall Sunday along with two others by the Oldtimers Committee.

Also selected were pitcher Mickey Welsh, a 300-game winner with the Giants prior to the turn of the century, and Billy Evans, a top-flight American League umpire in the 1920s.

The committee attempts to revive baseball names from the past and only considers those whose careers ended at least 20 years ago. The new selections will be immortalized in services this summer at Cooperstown, N.Y., along with pitcher Warren Spahn, a modern-day player who was picked last week by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Kelly, a sprightly 77-year-old who lives in Millbrae, Calif., is the only living member of the three chosen on Sunday.

Frisch, the Hall of Fame infielder who played on the Giants' World Series-winning teams with Kelly, recalled a teammate with one of the finest arms in the game.

Kelly was involved in a famous double play with Frisch that helped the Giants beat the New York Yankees in the 1921 World Series. A Yankee runner was on first base when Frank Baker hit a sharp ball in the hole between first and second.

Second baseman John Rawlings made a spectacular stop of the ball and threw to Kelly to get the runner coming down the line. Then Kelly uncorked a bullet throw to Frisch to nail the runner who was going from first to third to complete the double play that ended the Series.

Hoyt, the great Yankee pitcher who faced Kelly in that World Series, recalled "more than just a first baseman."

"He was," said Hoyt, "one of the greatest clutch hitters in the game."

Welsh compiled a 311-207 record in 12 years and was a 20-game-winner seven straight seasons. He pitched from 1880 to 1892 with the Giants, first in Troy, N.Y., and then in New York City.

His top season was in 1885, when he won 44 games and lost 11.

Evans, a long-time umpire, also was a general manager with the Cleveland Indians. He worked as a sports writer for many years with Newspaper Enterprise Association.

"He was one of the finest gentlemen from the position of refinement to ever grace the diamond," said Hoyt, one of the 12-man Oldtimers Committee.

Senior Skating To Mike Woods

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI) — Mike Woods of West Allis, Wis., winning the one-mile race for his fourth gold medal, captured the Senior Men's title Sunday in the National Outdoor Speed-skating championships.

Woods, 20, a pre-med junior who is a member of the Marquette University cross-country team, won the 440-yard sprint, the ¾-mile and the two-mile Saturday, and battled a cold wind Sunday to win the mile in 3:10.1. He led most of the way in the five-mile before losing in the final 50 yards.

Woods finished the competition with 22 points, compared with 16 for Bob Fenn, also of West Allis, and 11 for Ed Jacquin of St. Louis. Defending champion Barth Levy of Colorado Springs, Colo., finished fourth overall with nine points.

Nancy Class of St. Paul, an 18-year-old art student, eked out a victory in the Senior Women's division when Kris garbe of West Allis fell down in the final 30 yards of the mile.

ABA's East Loop Real Battle Royal

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The battle for supremacy in the East Division of the American Basketball Association between the Carolina Cougars and the Kentucky Colonels goes on and Cougar Coach Larry Brown thinks Kentucky can just play well and win while Carolina must play great if it is to triumph.

The Colonels defeated the Cougars 111-103 Sunday night, enabling Kentucky to move within three games of the first-place Cougars and prompted Coach Joe Mullaney to remark, "Everyone did a nice job. And when you can say that you've got no complaints".

Coach Larry Brown did have some complaints. "I felt we did a poor job offensively in the first half. You certainly couldn't call our performance a classic".

Kentucky guard Louie Dampier scored a season-high 30 points to lead the Colonels to their 16th victory in their last 17 games at home. Dan Issel scored 28 points and collared 12 rebounds and Artis Gilmore scored 26 points and grabbed 16 caroms. Billy Cunningham paced the Cougars with 29 points and 12 rebounds.

In other ABA action Sunday, the Denver Rockets blasted the New York Nets 106-77, the Memphis Tams edged the Indiana Pacers 127-126 and the Dallas Chaparals whipped the San Diego Conquistadors 128-109.

The Nets managed to hit only four of 22 field goal attempts in the third quarter and were outscored 37-14 in the period and never recovered.

The Memphis Tams and the Indiana Pacers engaged in a free-for-all battle with the Tams emerging with a 127-126 victory. A total of 61 personal fouls and four technicals were called in the game.

Rangers' Francis Finds the Secret

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York Rangers Coach Emile Francis may have found a new secret to success—get the rest of the National Hockey League teams angry just before they play Montreal.

On Saturday, the Rangers ventured into Detroit and came away with a 6-3 victory. So on Sunday, the aroused Red Wings sailed into Montreal and, before a national television audience, chalked up a 4-2 victory that snapped the Canadiens' unbeaten string at 13 games.

The Rangers, meanwhile, returned home Sunday night and, sparked by a pair of Jean Ratelle goals, polished off Toronto 5-3 to move within five points of front-running Montreal in the East Division.

"The key game in our push on Montreal was yesterday," Francis said of the Red Wings' game. "By beating them there, we helped ourselves and got them mad enough so they helped us again today."

If the Red Wings were angry, then Henry Boucha was livid. He simply couldn't wait to get at Canadiens' goalie Wayne Thomas—and he didn't.

Picking up a pass following the opening faceoff, Boucha barreled into the Montreal zone and rifled home a goal just six seconds into the game. It was the fastest goal in the history of the league, shaving a second off the record set nearly 41 years ago by the late Charlie Conacher of Toronto.

In Sunday' other NHL games, Atlanta shelled Buffalo 8-5, Boston edged Los Angeles 6-5, Philadelphia nipped California 4-3 and Chicago mauled Minnesota 5-1. In Saturday's other action, Chicago beat Boston 4-2, St. Louis whipped Vancouver 3-1 and Philadelphia turned back Pittsburgh 5-3.

In the World Hockey Association Sunday it was Los Angeles 9, Chicago 2; Winnipeg 5, Ottawa 4; Houston 4, Chicago 3, and Alberta 4, Philadelphia 2.

Gilles Villemure yielded only power play goals by Toronto's Dave Keon and Paul Henderson and stopped three breakaways in only his second start since Dec. 27 in place of Ed Giacomin. They'll be the two East Division goalies in Tuesday night's NHL All-Star Game.

Ottowa's Largest Crowd Had Its Mixed Emotions

By United Press International

The largest crowd of the season at Ottawa had to go home with mixed emotions.

The major attraction for the crowd of 7,247 was Bobby Hull, and it was Hull himself who scored the goal that gave the visiting Winnipeg Jets a 5-4 victory over the Nationals Sunday night. Hulls' 24th goal of the campaign came at 13:31 of the final period after Norm Beaudin had moved Winnipeg into a tie 10 minutes earlier.

The loss was the sixth in a row for Ottawa while Winnipeg was able to maintain its six-point lead over the Houston Aeros in the West Division of the World Hockey Association. Houston kept pace by edging the Chicago Cougars, 4-3, while in other games the Los Angeles Sharks routed the New York Raiders, 9-2, and the Alberta Oilers beat the Philadelphia Blazers, 4-2.

Frank Hughes scored with 7:58 left to play to lift the Aeros to their sixth consecutive victory and their 10th win in 11 games. Chicago led 3-2 after the first period, but Duke Harris tied it for Houston in the second period.

Former Raider Alton White scored two goals and seven of his teammates added one each as Los Angeles raced to a 9-0 lead over New York. The Raiders then averted a shutout by scoring twice in the final three minutes.

Eddie Joyal, Doug Barrie, Jim Harrison and Roger Cote scored for Alberta in its victory over Philadelphia.

Nastase Keeps the Title

OMAHA, Neb. (UPI) — Ilie Nastase, the colorful two time defending singles champion of the Midlands International Tennis Tournament pocketed the title again Sunday, but without the flair normally seen during a championship match.

Jimmy Connors, Miami, Fla., conceded the title bout to Nastase after trailing 0-5 in the first set because of an injured ankle.

Connors said when he got out of bed Sunday he "couldn't even walk" on the ankle. But when it was wrapped later, "It felt pretty good, so I thought I might as well give it a try."

Romanian Nastase showed little sympathy, and Connors added, "He's out there to win. That's what it's all about."

"I don't like to win this way," said Nastase. "When I go out on the court I play to win. But how can I play. He can't move."

Ion Tiriac, another Romanian, who came to the match as a spectator after being eliminated, played Nastase in an exhibition match before the record crowd of 2,879 and beat the champion 7-5.

Connors was also part of the doubles championship, teaming with Juan Gisbert of Spain. Connors' condition resulted in defaulting that match to Bill Brown, San Louis Obispo, Calif., and Mike Estep of Dallas.

That New DPH Rule

It's Ridiculous, Martin Screams

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) -- Billy Martin never goes along with the tide, he always swims against it.

Now guess what?

He's doing the same thing again.

Everybody you talk with says how wonderful it is that baseball, or at least the American League, finally has come to its senses and is changing a little bit.

They're talking about the "designated hitter" for the pitcher which the American League will begin using five weeks from now in spring training and carry over into the regular season thereafter.

Billy Martin doesn't see what's so wonderful about the new rule. As a matter of fact, it has him stopped. Martin, who handles the Detroit Tigers and has a good head, doesn't get stopped too often.

You Ought to Hear Him

Nor is he in the habit of ducking comment on any subject, but you ought to hear him when someone asks him about the designated hitter.

Someone did ask him here Sunday night. Martin immediately insisted nobody really has defined the rule intelligently enough for all managers to understand it.

"At first I was told the designated hitter cannot be used defensively, and then I was told he can be," said Martin. "Now I can't find anyone who's really sure. Until the rule is defined for me, I can't comment on it. How can I say whether I like it or not?"

Martin, who has an ideal designated hitter on his club in big Frank Howard, says he really can't comment one way or another, and then he goes right ahead and does.

"The thing I don't like about it is that the American League is using it and the National League isn't," he says. "I'm not allowed to use it against the National League in spring training. That's ridiculous. How am I going to experiment?"

Use it in AL Games

Simply by using it in spring exhibition games with other American League clubs, he was told.

"I still say it's ridiculous," said Martin, whose Tigers took the Oakland A's all the way to the final game in the American League playoffs last fall.

Billy Martin isn't backward about any other subject, either.

What about Warren Spahn being voted into the Hall of Fame?

"I'm very happy for him," says Martin.

How about the move to vote in the late Roberto Clemente without the customary five-year wait?

"Rightly so," says the Tigers manager, who with the moustache he's wearing now, looks like Mark Spitz. "The time is right for something like that. The people love Clemente, and there isn't any question about him deserving to be in the Hall of Fame. If the writers decide to vote him in without the wait, I don't think the practice would be abused in he future."

What About Ford?

What about his old Yankee buddy, Whitey Ford, missing out being elected by 30 votes?

"It made me feel a little dejected," Martin says. "I see no reason why he shouldn't have made it on the first ballot. The same with Bob Lemon. Those two were super pitchers. Whitey was one of the best pitchers I've ever seen, and one of the best competitors.

"He had a great wit with everything else. I remember one day we were playing the White Sox in a crucial series. A guy with a real flat nose, the same as Hank Bauer's, leaned over the dugout, and hollered to Bauer. 'Hey, Hank, remember me? We were in the Marines the same time and landed in Okinawa together.'

"Hank couldn't remember, but Whitey, sitting there in the dugout, looked at this guy's flat nose and at Hank's, and said, "Say, what did those Japanese over there fight you with, shovels?'"

First 600 Club Title Won by Joan Smith

KINGSTON

Joan Smith's worst feats were almost realized in the first round of the Kingston Woman's Bowling Association's inaugural 600 Club Tournament Sunday at Ferraro's Bowlerama.

"I didn't think I'd survive the first round," she said in a post-tournament interview. The KWBA record books will show however, that Mrs. Smith did survive the first cut — but only by three pins — and then went on to defeat Gloria Nagle in the one-game finals, 194-135, to become the first KWBA 600 Club champion.

The two finalists — Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Nagle — also had a close call in the third round when they qualified with 157s. Elizabeth Smith led that round with 166 and Nell Alverson, the New Paltz veteran posted 165.

In the final game, Joan drew the 4-7-9 split and it was a good omen when she converted it. Two spares, a double and spare gave her a quick 25-pin lead and she was in front the rest of the way. Mrs. Nagle was plagued by three splits and a miss enroute to her 135.

Mrs. Smith was only three pins away from elimination in the two-game, first round qualifier with her 334. Only Cora Martin and Irene McMahon with 333 and 332, respectively, finished lower. Gloria Allen of Woodstock led the field with 265-382. Perla Bollin posted 366, Betty Ann Eaton 219-362 and Elizabeth Smith 362. Mrs. Eaton's 219 solo was the highest of the tournament and Gloria Daley had an all-spare game to help her survive the first cut. Mrs. Allen was eliminated in the second round.

Joan Smith's 216 and Cora Martin's 214 led the second round of eight players. In the third round, Elizabeth Smith led with 166 and Nell Alverson had 165.

The fourth round set up the finalists when Gloria Nagle fire 216 and Joan Smith had 176.

A once-a-week bowler in the Women's Major, Mrs. Smith said, "I'm very thrilled to win the tournament but I never expected to do it. I just didn't think my game was good enough."

A 20-year veteran, Mrs. Smith has several 600s to her credit with a career-high 617. She once achieved a 178 average in the Invitational but has been averaging 160 this season. Enroute to Sunday's finals, she rolled 334, 216, 157, 176 and 194 for a six-game average of 179.5.

Mrs. Smith said the 600 Club format, which vaguely resembled that of the PBA was "great." I think the girls liked it and we're all happy that we finally got the tournament off the ground."

The new champion is eligible for the New York State and WIBC 600 Club Tournaments, the latter in Vegas. Would she be interested? "I'll give it some thought," she said.

Mrs. Smith, who is employed by Newcombe Oil, took her newly acquired honors in modest fashion. She made sure the reporter remembered her daughter, Sharon Smith, who fired a 533 series in the Ulster County Junior Bowling Association last season.

The results:

Quarry Defends Title Tonight

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — Once-beaten Mike Quarry puts his North American light heavyweight title on the line tonight when he faces veteran Ray "Windmill" White of Ventura, Calif., in a 12-round fight at the Anaheim Convention Center.

White's state championship also will be at stake in his bout with the 21-year-old Quarry, who has a 36-1-1 record as a pro. Quarry's only loss came on a knockout by world light heavyweight king Bob Foster.

Boyle Rally Stops Uhl's

KINGSTON

A late rally by Boyles AC powered the YMCA A League five to an 88-79 victory over Uhl's Construction in a tight, seesaw battle. Other league action saw Corner Rest pound Snoflake Ski Shop with a decisive 71-47 beating.

Boyles took a first period lead behind the marksmanship of Jumpin' Joe Uhl. The winners faltered in the second period and trailed by seven at the half. With Vino Platts and Rocky Johnson leading Uhls' attack, the score was tied going into the final period where back-to-back baskets by the winners spurred the winning burst.

Platts finished with 29 and Johnson scored 28 points to pace Uhl's, while Joe Uhl netted 26 for the winners.

Harry Brink poured in 21 points and Joe Wenzel added 18 as Corner Rest broke away from the Snoflakes in the second quarter. Outscoring the losers 21-8 in the period, the CR five opened up 17 point halftime lead and coasted home from there.

Typecast Gets Highest Price

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Champion mare Typecast brought the highest price ever paid for a thoroughbred at auction Sunday when she was sold for $725,000 to representatives of a British bloodstock agency at the dispersal sale of stock belonging to the estate of Fletcher Jones.

George Harris, American representative of the Heron Bloodstock Agency of London, made the winning bid but said afterward he could not disclose for whom he made the purchase.

The auction, held on the Hollywood Park grounds under the auspices of the California Thoroughbred Breeders Association, drew a crowd of about 3,500 which overflowed the auction pavilion into temporary stands.

First Setback For Norcross In World Play

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) —Wayne Norcross of Huntington Beach, Calif., a 27-year-old newcomer who recorded upsets over established billiards champions during the weekend, suffered his first defeat Sunday in the $23,000 World Pocket Billiards Championships.

Norcross, who defeated 1972 champion Irving Crane of Rochester, N.Y., and the 1972 runnerup Lou Butera of Reseda, Calif., in his first two matches, was defeated by Jack Breit of Houston, Tex., 150-102.

In other matches Sunday, Gene Nagy of New York City defeated Jim Bempe of Scranton, Pa., 150-75; Alan Hopkins of Elizabeth, N.J., defeated Cicero Murphy of Brooklyn, 150-105; Crane defeated Larry Lisciotti of Hartford, Conn., 150-38; Jim Marino of Culver City, Calif., got by Richie Florence of Torrance, Calif., 150-49; Jimmy Moore of Albuquerque, N.M., defeated Dan Diliberto of Miami, 150-105; Joe Russo of Trenton, N.J., defeated Butera 150-105; and Joe Balsis of Minersville, Pa., defeated Steve Cook, lima, Ohio, 150-76.

Competition in the round-robin tournament among 19 professionals lasts until Feb. 17.

Bob Cochran Joins Family

By FERRY WIMMER

KITZBUEHEL, Austria (UPI) — A 23-year old student at the University of Vermont emerged today as the first American skier in history to win the coveted Hahnenkamm trophy against the best skiers from all over the world.

Bob Cochran, the only boy among the four-member Cochran "ski tribe" from Richmond, Vt., won the alpine combined title with 31.82 points ahead of Reinhard Tritscher of Austria with 36.27 and Rolando Thoeni of Italy with 37.20 points.

Cochran earned his title—traditionally captured by the reputed ski aces from alpine countries—on account of a remarkable third place in the downhill and a 23rd rank in the slalom.

"I know I was slow in today's slalom," Cochran said. "But I had my eyes on the combined. It's my best overall placing in an international contest."

Roland Collombin of Switzerland won the downhill Saturday while Jean Noel Augert of France took Sunday's slalom of the Hahnenkamm trophy—a two-day world cup event.

"I'm glad I finally caught up with the reputation of my racing sisters", Cochran said.

The Cochran sisters have been constantly in the limelight in international skiing in the past years. Barbara won the 1972 Olympic slalom title in Sapporo, Japan. Marylin repeatedly beat her European rivals and won the World Cup slalom at Chamonix, France, last Friday.

"I am particularly proud of that third place in the Hahnenkamm downhill", Bob Cochran said. "It's been a tremendous race on an icy track that I consider the most difficult in the world. In fact, all the racers think the same about the downhill run here."

Cochran said he did not want to ruin his chances in the combined by taking too many risks in today's slalom.

"It would have been a pity to lose the combined for the sake of attempting to place higher in the slalom", he said.

The slalom was held today in heavy snowfall with poor visibility, more than 50 per cent of all entries—among them the defending Hahnenkamm champion, Henry Duvillard of France and the 1972 Olympic slalom champion, Francesco Fernandez-ochoa of Spain—abandoned the race after taking spills.

Roland Collombin maintained his lead in the World Cup standings with 131 points by virtue of Saturday's downhill victory—his fourth in six downhill runs this season.

FIRST AMERICAN — Bob Cochren of the United States races into a gate Sunday in the Hahnenkamm World Cup special slalom at Kitzbuhl, Austria. He placed third but became the first American to win the coveted Hahnenkamm Trophy as he won the combined Alpine title with 29.34 points. (UI)

Sabich Is First In Pro Racing

BLUE MOUNTAIN, Ont. (UPI) — Current world pro ski champion Spider Sabich, 28, of Snowmass, Colorado, skiied his way to victory Sunday during the slalom event of the Benson and Hedges pro ski classic. By the win, Sabich moved into first place on the Grand Prix tour of professional racing and boosted his earnings to $10,600.

Harold Steuefer of Austria was eliminated in the finals by Sabich and was awarded $1,500 for second place; third position was taken by Hugo Nindl, also of Austria, earning $1,200.

Strong favorite and Franch superstar Jean Claude Killy had plenty of problems today and was beaten in the first round before an impressive crowd of more than 7,000.

The pro tour now moves to Minneapolis-St. Paul next weekend for the annual Winter Carnival.

Garn Accuses Placid Group

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — mayor Jake Garn, whose personal appeal to the U.S. Olympic Committee resulted in the selection of Salt Lake for the 1976 Winter Olympics, has accused boosters of Lake Placid, N.Y., of undermining the successful bid.

"We have hills we wouldn't even consider putting a lift on that are better than those of Lake Placid," Garn said in an interview with a Lake Placid radio station, WIRD.

Garn said there has been an effort to have Lake Placid put in an independent bid to host the event. He said this violates a gentleman's agreement that all competitors for the U.S. bid would support the city winning the nod from the U.S. Olympic Committee.

He accused Lake Placid Chamber of Commerce Director Roy Kennedy of coming to Salt Lake, "nosing around and not having the courtesy to contact the mayor's office.

Garn challenged the people of Lake Placid to come out and look at the Utah skiing facilities.

Michelob Classic

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (UPI) — Australians Rod Laver and Roy Emerson defeated fellow countryman Allan Stone and Nikki Pilic of Yugoslavia 6-7, 6-3, 6-4 Sunday in the doubles finals of the $50,000 World Championship of Tennis Michelob Classic.

In Football Draft

Houston's Breen Real Popular Man

NEW YORK (UPI) — There will be the sound of ringing phones for most of today in the office of John Breen.

Breen is the general manager of the Houston Oilers and suddenly he's one of the most popular men in the National Football League. The reason is that the Oilers, with the worst record in pro football last season (1-13), have the No. 1 pick in Tuesday's college player draft.

Breen has openly offered the pick around for three or four proven starters with whom he can begin to rebuild the Oilers. So far the offers haven't been lucrative enough but with time running out, Breen expects some solid negotiating today.

"Quite a few clubs are interested," Breen said, "and I'm listening to all offers. Most of the clubs want the choice to take Bert Jones but a couple are planning on grabbing off the big defensive linemen."

Jones is the passing whiz from Louisiana State who tops most of the draft charts while the two linemen Breen referred to are Dave Butz, a 6-foot-7, 280-pound tackle from Purdue and John Matuszak, a 6-7, 275-pound end from Tampa.

Breen has been saying that if a trade doesn't work out, he'll pick Jones himself and trade either Jones or backup man Lynn Dickey, who missed last season with a broken hip. Dan Pastorini seems to have the No. 1 job locked up.

The Oilers have two first round picks, also owning Atlanta's, the 14th selection on the first round. New Orleans will pick second as the teams draft in inverse order of the final 1972 standings and Philadelphia,, which has two picks in the first six, goes third.. New England is fourth, followed by St. Louis and then the Eagles again on a choice from San Diego.

The remainder of the first round will go to Buffalo, Chicago, Denver, Baltimore, New England (from Los Angeles), Minnesota, the New York Jets, Houston, Cincinnati, Cleveland (from the New York Giants), Chicago (from Kansas City), San Francisco, Detroit, Dallas, Green Bay, Cleveland,, Oakland, Pittsburgh, San Diego (from Washington) and Buffalo (from Miami).

Others outstanding prospects besides Jones, Butz and Matuszak include offensive linemen John Hannah of Alabama and Jerry Sisemore of Texas, running backs Otis Armstrong of Purdue and Chuck Foreman of Miami (Fla.), receivers Steve Holden of Arizona State and Isaac Curtis of San Diego State, linebacker Brad Van Pelt of Michigan State and defensive back Burgess Owens of Miami (Fla.).

The draft will begin at 10 a.m. EST Tuesday and will run for 17 rounds, with 442 collegians to be selected. It will conclude late Wednesday.

Wooden Looks To Number 62

By JIM COUR
UPI Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — UCLA's John Wooden didn't get on top—and stay there—by living in the past.

The coach with the golden touch was talking about the future Sunday, only one day after his Bruins made college basketball history with their 61st victory in a row.

"There's definitely a possibility of a letdown now," said Wooden, whose No. 1-ranked club returns to Pacific-8 play against archrival Southern California Saturday night.

"But," he continued, "I think there's less of a possibility of a letdown against USC than if we were playing someone else."

UCLA broke the University of San Francisco's collegiate record of 60 straight victories Saturday with an 82-63 victory at Nore Dame.

Now 16-0 this season, the Bruins are tied for first place in the Pac-8 standings at 4-0 with USC.

Wooden expects to face a stall when UCLA goes against Bob Boyd's Trojans at the Sports Arena.

"Based on what Coach Boyd has said and done in the past," the 62-year-old Bruin coach said, "I definitely think they (USC) will try to slow it down if they have a chance.

"I think Notre Dame would have gone into a stall, too, if they had ever gotten into the lead. But they couldn't do it and we just kept inching away from them so they never had a chance to."

Old Man Snead Has 15-Stroke Seniors Win

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI) — Imperturbable Sam Snead, ignoring high winds from a storm front moving across Florida, scored a 15-stroke victory Sunday in the PGA Seniors golf tournament.

Snead, 60, birdied three holes and parred the rest for a three-under-par 69 over the PGA National Golf Club East course. His 72-hole total of 268 broke Jack Nicklaus' course record of 271 set in the World Cup matches in October, 1971.

Julius Boros finished second at 283.

It was Snead's sixth Seniors championship since he started competing in that category in 1964. He had only two bogeys over the 72 holes, and broke 70 every round with scores of 66, 66 and 67 before Sunday.

With $4,000 first-prize money in his pocket, Snead admitted that he has been putting better lately than any time in the past 10 or 15 years.

He said he dreamed Saturday night he would play 11 pars and then four straight birdies in the final round. He almost did. Snead parred the first 10 holes and then made three birdies in a row.

Joe Taylor finished third at 288 and Milon Marusic and Ed Furgol tied for fourth at 290.

City Schools Set Union Elections

KINGSTON

The 214 custodial, maintenance and food service personnel of the Kingston Consolidated School District will vote Tuesday afternoon to decide whether they will be represented by the Civil Service Employes Association or the Service Employes International Union.

The SEIU filed a petition of challenge Nov. 21, 1972 with the Public Employes Relations Board requesting the new election. The school district workers are currently represented by the CSEA.

Originally, SEIU filed to represent just the custodial and maintenance workers, excluding the food service and cafeteria personnel. Both PERB and the school district objected to the fragmentation of the present unit, so SEIU agreed to include all three groups in its petition.

CSEA has been the exclusive representative of the district employes since 1967. The challenge was issued by Local 74 of the SEIU in Queens, N.Y.

A simple majority vote will determine representation.

Voting will take place at Kingston High School Tuesday from 3-5 p.m. Benjamin Westerveldt of PERB will supervise the elections.

BOCES Plans For the Budget

NEW PALTZ

Plans for the 1973-74 budget preparation were made recently at the Ulster County BOCES board meeting.

The Board of Cooperative Educational Services annual meeting was set Wednesday, April 4. Component school districts submitted final requests to BOCES on Friday, Jan. 26. Legal steps for State Education Department approval will be carried out during February with preliminary budget information expected by early March.

In other business, Gerald Parks was named to the vocational education advisory council replacing Charles Steele. Leon Greenburg of BOCES presented a slide program on Learning Disabilities and outlined plans for the local project.

CONSERVATION
NOTICE OF APPLICATION

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to Title 5 (Protection of Water) of the Environmental Conservation Law, and Public Law 91-224, Section 21-b and Part 608 of the Official Compilation of Codes, Rules and Regulations of the State of New York for administering said Laws, James J. Berardi, 540 Abeel Street, Kingston, New York 12401 has filed an application with the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation at its Regional Office at New Paltz, New York where the application and published rules and regulations for administration of the law are available for public inspection.

The applicant requests that he be issued a permit to Construct a reinforced concrete bulkhead approximately 600 feet in length along the northerly bank of the Rondout Crek extending approximately six feet in to the water from the existing bank and placing fill behind same. The site of this proposed project is at the rear of property owned by applicant in the vicinity of the confluence of Twaalfskill and Rondout Creeks, City of Kingston, Ulster County, New York. The applicant further requests that the project be certified that there is a reasonable assurance that such activity will be conducted in such a manner as not to violate applicable water quality standards.

Any person interested in this application who wishes to become a "Party in Interest" in this proceeding in accordance with the published rules and regulations of the Department must notify the undersigned in writing on or before the 16th day of February, 1973, stating specific areas of interest.

Any Party in Interest will be eligible to be heard if a public hearing is ultimately held in connection with the application.

STATE OF NEW YORK
SUPREME COURT:
COUNTY OF ULSTER

ROSALIA SHEEHAN, Mt. Tremper, New York,
Plaintiff,
- against -
WILLIAM FRANCIS SHEEHAN, (Last known address—Mt. Tremper, New York), Defendant.

ACTION FOR A DIVORCE

To the above-named defendant:

You are hereby summoned to serve a notice of appearance on the plaintiff's attorneys within thirty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service, and in case of your failure to appear, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

The basis of the venue designated is the residence of the plaintiff, which is Mt. Tremper, County of Ulster, State of New York.

The object of this action is to obtain judgment against the defendant for an absolute divorce; that the custody of the infant issue of the marriage be awarded to the plaintiff; that a reasonable provision be made out of the property and income of the defendant for the support of such issue; and for such other, further and different relief as may be just and proper.

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of Hon. Louis G. Bruhn a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, signed the 16th day of January, 1973, at Kingston, New York, and filed on the 17th day of January, 1973, with the complaint in the office of the clerk of the County of Ulster, at the County Office Building, in the City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York.

DOROTHY J. GRUNER, as assignee of Aldens, Inc.
Plaintiff,
- against -
FRANCIS L. ZEGILLA and MARY R. ZEGILLA, Sued as "Zegiella", Defendants.

NOTICE OF SALE
SHERIFF'S SALE

By virtue of an execution issued out of the County Court of the County of Ulster, at the suit of Dorothy J. Gruner, as assignee of Aldens, Inc., against the property, real or pesronal of Francis L. Zegilla and Mary R. Zegilla, I, the undersigned Sheriff of Ulster County have seized all the right, title and interest which the said Francis L. Zegilla and Mary R. Zegilla had on the 4th day of June, 1969, or subsequent thereto, of, in and to the following described premises, which I shall offer for sale at public auction as the law directs, in the lobby of the Ulster County Court House, Wall Street, Kingston, New York, on the 22nd day of March, 1973, at 11:00 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, to wit:—

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND situate lying and being in the Town of Shawangunk, County Ulster and State of New York, being a house situate on the west side of the public road leading from Montgomery and which is a conveyance thereof made by Abraham B. Winfield to Marianna W. Titus bearing date March 24, 1873 is described as follows:

BEGINNING at a stake set in the ground on the westerly side of the public road leading to Montgomery including the blacksmith shop, dwelling house, etc., on the southerly side of a lane leading westerly on a line between the farms of Peter J. M. Gale, and DeWitt C. Gale, deceased, which said stake is set twelve feet on a course of south 5° west from the center of said land; thence along the westerly side of said public road south 5° west one chain and seventy-seven links; thence north 79° west one chain and 46 links, thence north 71° west 4 chains and 39 links to a stake set; thence north 5° east one chain and 77 links to the said southerly side of the aforesaid lane; thence along the same as it runs to the place of beginning, CONTAINING one acre of land, more or less.

SUBJECT to all covenants and restrictions, if any, contained in former deeds of record.

WILLIAM B. MARTIN
Sheriff of Ulster County.

Your Horoscope

Tuesday, January 30

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are eager to get your life on a more solid and secure basis and it's all right to plan it thusly so long as you do not approach others to go along with your conclusions, as arguments and varied points of view could quickly follow. Use tact and diplomacy.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Taking any risks where your reputation is concerned is not wise now, for others could be very critical, and pose big problems for you. Quickly get the credit matter taken care of. Avoid further expense.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You have fine ideas that you want to put in operation too quickly, so take it easy and plan them better for good results. Those ideas which an overly glamorous individual has are not for you. Social fun in p m.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You think you can run away from some promise, be it a personal or business nature, but you would do better to keep it now, scruplously. Then you make big headway. Avoid the social or recreational tonight.

MOON CHLDREN (June 22 to July 21) Although you want to make a change where some associate is concerned, you are required to change your methods instead. Steer clear of the public and handle those personal matters wisely, too. Your attitude has not been right.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get busy at that work you have to do although you would rather make radical changes that could be very bad for you. Take the time to improve your health through exercise. Do this intelligently.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You want to have fun and relieve worry you now feel, but make sure you stick to the tried and true, otherwise you compound your worries. Get creative plans worked out better. Take the bugs out of them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't go off half-cocked and get into trouble in the outside world because conditions at home do not suit you. Calm down and right them carefully, wisely. Then you can make big headway in business.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Much care should be exercised in motion, otherwise thoughtlessness on your part or that of others could result in big trouble. Shop wisely and don't buy anything you are not sure of. Show that you have good common sense.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Don't think you can buy your way into what more ethical means could get you easily and properly. Learn to be more thrifty, wise. Get busy and improve surroundings.

CAPRCORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You are all fired up to achieve some personal aim that is absolutely no good for you, so forget it and start something worthwhile. Improve your appearance. Show you are loyal to mate.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't feel sorry for yourself because you have work to do—get it done and then you have time for pleasure you want, also. Use good judgment and forget that intuitive idea that is incorrect. Make this a constructive, happy day, p.m.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't foist your worries upon others now since they have enough of their own. Get busy solving own problems objectively. Avoid group meetings that could lead to arguments. Fine evening for reading, writing.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those practical and businesslike young people who will also be most alert to whatever is of the New Age. So send to the right schools that will help to retain the best of the past, while teaching the best of the present and future, then there can be a most successful life here. Inventiveness is also a good part of the chart. Banking, property management, sound producing, are particularly fine.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

PEST: (Q.) I can't stand Gerald. He's a pest. When he calls me on the phone he doesn't talk about anything. He asks me how I feel and I tell him OK and then I tell him I have to go.

Then he asks me to go out with him and I say no. Then he asks if he can come over and I say no again.

Now he says he has something to give me and wants to see me so he can give it to me. Whatever it is, I don't want it and won't accept it. What can I do?—Bothered in Alabama.

(A.) Some boys you have to be very specific with. Tell Gerald you do not want to go out with him. Tell him you cannot accept a gift from him because you are not his girl friend and do not plan to be. Ask him to call some other girl. Ask him not to call you again. I believe he will understand that.

PAIN, PAIN: (Q.) I am in trouble. One day last week it was raining and I had a dentist appointment. At the bus stop, I saw Kay. I really like Kay, and we stopped under an awning to talk a minute.

I forgot the time and when I thought about it I saw I was going to be late to the dentist. I ran for the bus and got on without explaining or kissing Kay good-bye. I'm sure she doesn't like me now but I surley do like her. What can I do?—13 in Massachusetts.

(A.) I do not think it is necessary for a 13-year-old boy to kiss a girl good-by after a chance meeting in public.

I do think you should have explained your hurry before you dashed for the bus.

Call Kay and tell her the truth as you have told it to me. Tell her you got so interested in talking to her that you forgot the time and when you remembered the time you lost your head. Ask her to forgive you for being so thoughtless.

If she is a sensible and reasonable girl, I believe she will.

Find Divorce 'Hilarious'

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Love is a topic for laughs on "Love, American Style" and bigotry a barrel of fun on "All In The Family," and now ABC-TV finds divorce hilarious in the new series "Here We Go Again."

Divorced persons may find it as funny as an alimony battle.

The weekly show stars Larry Hagman and Nita Talbot as newly divorced and co-stars Diane Baker and Dick Gautier as another pair of matrimonial dropouts.

"I play Larry's ex-wife," said Nita, "and I keep bugging him because he's married Diane.

"I've been divorced twice myself. So I've been through many of the situations that come up in the scripts. Sometimes they're so true it puts me on the verge of tears—or make me laugh my head off.

"There can be humor in divorce situations. I see it often when my ex-husband comes over to pick up our daughter on his visitation days. I'm at the door with no makeup, in a bathrobe and my hair falling in my eyes."

Nita, a tall look-alike for Lauren Bacall who has starred on Broadway and in two previous television series, "Joe and Mabel" and "The Jim Backus Show," remains on good terms with both former husbands, actors Don Gordon and Tom Geas.

Recently she appeared on a daytime game show with Gordon.

"I could just as easily have been with Tom," she said, "but he's remarried and that wouldn't look so good.

"I think our series will get through to a lot of people. Viewers will be able to identify with the characters because such a large segment of the population is divorced."

Nita is somewhat shaky on her statistics: "Somebody told me that about 40 per cent of Americans are divorced or have been divorced some time in their lives.

Nita, speaking for the show's producers, said the premise of the series does not make divorce appear desireable.

"We show the sad and tragic sides of divorce, too," she said, "but with ironic twists of humor to take the edge off those elements that would otherwise be too dramatic."

"I guess one of the least humorous things is showing a divo[illegible] woman with a child who would like to be married again."

Opening lead—♥Q

Oswald: "How about some submarine plays this week?"

Jim: "I guess you mean where you lead a low card in order to lose an early trick."

Oswald: "Today's submarine play is used so that South can draw two rounds of trumps and still keep control of the trump suit."

Jim: "In spite of his 14 high card points, West doesn't have much of an opening bid. North elects to double rather than bid one no-trump and eventually South plays a four-spade contract."

Oswald: "A look at dummy shows South that he must lose two trumps and a diamond. He also must retain trump control and be able to ruff two of his hearts in dummy. He doesn't mind being overruffed by a man with three trumps but he can't afford an overruff by a man with only two."

Jim: "And, course the hand will collapse if anyone holds four trumps against him. His play is to win the heart lead in dummy and submarine a low trump."

Oswald: "After this start he wins whatever suit is returned; plays dummy's ace of trumps and now proceeds to crossruff hearts and clubs. He loses another trump and a diamond in the cool of the evening but makes his 10 tricks along the way."

Developed by Rockefeller, State Leaders

Legislature to Receive No-Fault Elements

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Unless some last-minute difficulties arise, the New York legislature will receive the basic elements this week of the no-fault automobile insurance plan developed by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and legislative leaders.

The elements were to be spelled out in closed conferences of the majority Republican assemblymen and senators today or Tuesday.

The plan, sources said, contains a tradeoff between insurance premiums and benefits. The premiums would be lower, perhaps by as much as 20 per cent in some cases, but the benefits also would be less. In other words, the motorist would pay less for his insurance but also have less coverage.

Another section of the plan would permit negligence law suits if loss exceeds a certain point, said to be between $400 and $650. Trial lawyers had wanted the figure much lower, around $200.

The fact that lawsuits would be permitted at all is a departure from the pure form of no-fault automobile insurance. In the pure form, an insurance company would protect a policy holder from all loss in an accident, regardless of fault.

Negotiations on a no-fault plan have been conducted privately over the last few weeks by Rockefeller, Senate Majority Leader Warren M. Anderson of Binghamton, Assembly Speaker Perry B. Duryea of Montauk, Senate Judiciary Committee Chairman Bernard Gordon of Peekskill, Senate Insurance Committee Chairman John Dunne of Garden City and Assembly Insurance Committee Chairman John McCarthy of Huntington Station.

Debate on the bill was expected in a few weeks after a few hearings.

In activity over the weekend:

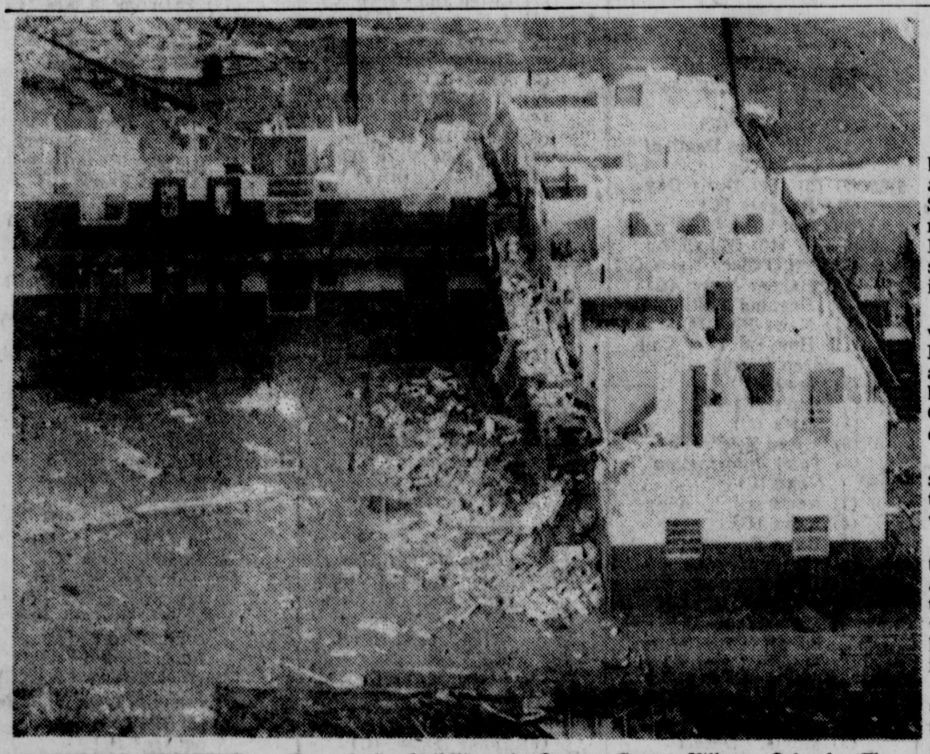

—Rockefeller urged the legislature to strengthen the state's consumer protection laws regarding prescription drugs, installment credit default judgments against debtors and garnishment.

—The governor said he would testify Tuesday about his tough anti-drug legislation to a joint meeting of the Codes Committees of the Senate and Assembly. Rockefeller asked for life imprisonment for convicted drug pushers and for those convicted of a violent crime while under the influence of hard drugs.

—Bills were introduced to provide tax relief and other state aid to areas afflicted by floods last June. The bills would permit property owners to compute their 1972 property taxes on the value of the property after the flood, establish a program of low interest state loans for rebuilding businesses, authorize state grants for highways, schools and hospitals, and mandate expanded flood-control planning.

The special commission studying pensions was scheduled to report on Tuesday and sources said it may propose a reduction in the pension plans for public employes.

The legislature is expected to meet three days this week. No major bills are expected to be debated or passed.

ROOFLESS BUILDING — One of the buildiings in Orange Center Village, Orlando, Fla., stands roofless after being demolished by a tornado. The twister struck at Orlando first, then skipped across the west side of the city causing extensive property damage. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Six Tornadoes Rip Central Florida

ORLANDO, Fla. (UPI) — At least 18 persons were injured and 300 were left homeless Sunday when six tornadoes rampaged through Central Florida. One of the twisters struck an apartment complex in West Orlando.

"It's a miracle that no one was killed," said Orlando Police Chief Robert Chewning after the twister demolished the large apartment complex in Orlando's Washington Shores district.

The entire top of the two-story apartment building was torn off and dozens of rooms were smashed.

Dr. Charles Hall, chairman of the Orange County Emergency and Disaster Medical Committee, said 14 injured persons were evacuated to Orlando hospitals, but none of the injuries was believed serious.

All six of the tornadoes struck the central Florida area simultaneously during the early afternoon, according to a Red Cross spokesman.

Four persons were hurt in Osceola County, where a leap-frog tornado damaged homes and "picked up big oak trees like they were toothpicks," according to Sheriff Ernest P. Murphy.

Murphy said one of his deputies saw the tornado set down first one mile south of Campbell City at about 12:15 p.m., where it injured four persons and caused extensive damage to homes and house trailers, in addition to uprooting trees and toppling utility poles.

The same twister next struck south of Kissimmee, demolishing a service station and trapping two people in their car. They were freed unhurt by rescue workers. The tornado then moved east of Kissimmee, damaging several homes in the Idora Park area.

Tornado winds also hit the Tico Airport near Titusville in Brevard County, damaging one building and the airport beacon.

The Orlando tornado went on a zig-zag, touch-and-skip path through the western part of the city, causing some damage at a small shopping center before ripping into the apartment complex.

Volcano Still Erupting

VESTMANNAEYJAR, Iceland (UPI) — A new mountain of lava and ash reaching 800 feet high rose slowly today on Heimaey island as a tireless volcano continued for the sixth day to boil, bubble and rumble.

The few inhabitants left on the island, a fish-rice center located about 14 miles off the Icelandic coast, called it "Church Mountain" because the island's one church is buried beneath it.

Most of the 5,000 inhabitants were evacuated last week after the long-dormant volcano Helgajfell awoke with a roar. Lava, ash and smoke have rolled over the island since the eruption began with many houses destroyed or damaged and water in the island harbor heated to temperatures as intense as 110 degrees.

'The rain of ash was not so heavy today," UPI reporter Kari Jonasson said late Sunday, "but the experts say it may increase again."

A Sunday storm, with wind speeds hitting 70 miles an hour, compounded the problems of salvage teams still on the island, but it abated somewhat early today.

Officials said the lava posed a serious threat to the Heimay harbor, one of the country's finest and the shipping point for much of Iceland's rich fishing industry.

"The harbor was 132 feet deep when the eruption started," a spokesman said. "Now it is partly blocked by lava and the depth is only 65 feet deep."

Members of the salvage teams said so far they have managed to empty one-third of the deserted homes and ship owners' furniture to the mainland.

"We'll never save it all," one worker told Jonasson. "More than 100 houses are buried in the ash."

Methaqualone Regulation Sought

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Peter A. Peyser, R-N.Y., says abuse of a drug known by trade names Sopor and Quaalude has reached epidemic proportions among students.

In a statement Sunday, Peyser said he had asked the Departments of Justice and Health, Education and Welfare to regulate the drug, whose generic name is Methaqualone.

He said despite pharmacological literature describing methaqualone as a safe, non-addictive sedative and hypnotic agent, there is evidence it has a high potential for abuse.

He said in Dade County, Fla., the first death has occurred from methaqualone overdose. In his North Bronx district, he said, "doctors tell me that Quaalude is the biggest new drug of abuse in the Montefiore Hospital area."

Peyser said there also were problems with the drug in Buffalo, Rochester, Long Island and Los Angeles.

In Dutchess County, four high school students received an overdose of the drug late last year and were released after hospital treatment. Nine of their fellow students were charged with drug sale.

"There is no question of the availablity of Quaalude across the country," Peyser said. "My information indicates that it is all legally obtained through prescriptions which are continually refilled."

"All over the country, Quaaludes are easily available for as little as 35 cents a tablet and the drug is rapidly becoming the drug of choice among our young users."

Peyser said he asked HEW to place Methaqualone in a category requiring its registration and that pharmacies account for its distribution.

A similar request for the drug's restriction was made last week by State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz in a letter to U.S. Attorney General Richard Kleindienst.

Peyser said withdrawal from methaqualone, while it is not physically addictive, can produce severe convulsions leading to brain damage and even death.

British Troops Attacked

BELFAST (UPI) — British troops were attacked by gunmen and rock throwing mobs late Sunday and early today at the end of a day dedicated to the memory of the 13 victims of "Bloody Sunday" one year ago.

An army spokesman said troops hit eight snipers in Belfast after gunmen fired more than 800 bullets at soldiers. No soldier casualties were reported.

But a spokesman said six soldiers were injured by rocks in Londonderry, where a mob littered the streets and burned at least two cars before troops firing rubber bullets and nausea gas dispersed it.

Another mob hurled rocks, bottles and molotov cocktails at army troops early today in Belfast. A few streets away, gunmen fired on troops and another gunmen opened fire on a Roman Catholic housing complex, but there were no reports of injuries in any of the three cases.

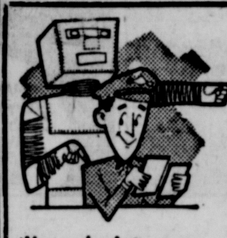

The incidents came at the end of a day of parades and demonstrations to mark the day British paratroopers shot and killed 13 Catholics in Londonderry. Huge crowds turned out in Belfast and Londonderry and in Dublin, in the south, where police clashed with demonstrators and arrested nine persons.

Stoneware in four inspired designs

Boldly contemporary. Brilliantly functional. The only set of dishes for today's life style. Use it every day in any way. Beautifully serves all your dining needs. Stoneware is the only dinnerware that combines the best of all worlds. Inspired designs, and colors, in shapes that are both practical and pleasing. Add warmth and luster to every meal with handsome functional Stoneware; the perfect answer to today's casual living . . . at prices you dreamed of, but never thought possible. Indulge yourself a little—for very little. Every week a different basic piece will be featured at a beautifully low price. Save while you collect. Follow our budget-wise schedule and get as many five piece place settings as you need: eight, ten, twelve or even more. Our imported Stoneware is wonderfully versatile. A beautiful complement for any home from classically traditional to dramatically modern and . . . it doesn't cost a fortune, only looks it.
